UCLA: THE BEST IN COLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

When it comes to NCAA titles, no school wins them with more frequency than UCLA. In the last 15 years, the Bruin men have dominated the NCAA title field and 1983-84 was no exception. UCLA added three more championships to its total — gymnastics, volleyball and tennis — and also finished fourth in swimming, fifth in water polo and seventh in track and field, giving the school six teams among the nation's top 10 in their respective sports. The Bruin women won an NCAA championship in softball and finished second in gymnastics and volleyball and fifth in tennis.

In addition, UCLA also won its second consecutive Rose Bowl championship, rallying from an 0-3-1 start to win a second straight Pacific-10 title and then defeated Illinois 45-9, on Jan. 2.

UCLA now owns 46 NCAA men's titles and four women's championships for a combined total of 50. In the last 15 years, the Bruin men have captured 31 NCAA championships, 11 more than runner-up UTEP and 16 more than third-place USC.

In the last five years, UCLA has won 13 national championships — eight by the men and five (one AIAW and four NCAA) by the women. UTEP is second with 10 titles (all men), followed by Stanford (nine — five men and four women), USC (seven — one men and six women) and Texas (seven — two men and five women).

Seven times in the last 15 years, the Bruin men have won at least three titles in a single year. UCLA is the only school to win four men's titles in a single year more than once, accomplishing the feat in 1969-70 (basketball, tennis, volleyball and water polo), 1970-71 (basketball, tennis, volleyball and outdoor track) and 1971-72 (basketball, volleyball, outdoor track and water polo). In 1981-82, UCLA became the only school in history to win five championships (men and women) in a single year.

No school has dominated college tennis, volleyball or basketball like UCLA. The Bruin netters have earned 15 NCAA titles (1950-52-53-54-56-60-61-65-70-71-75-76-79-82-84) and head coach Glenn Bassett has won seven of them. UCLA owns more titles in this sport than any other school in the nation.

In volleyball, head coach Al Scates has established himself as the new "Wizard of Westwood." The Bruins have participated in the NCAA tournament 14 of the 15 years in which it has been held and have won 11 NCAA titles (1970-71-72-74-75-76-79-81-82-83-84), including four straight and five of the last six.

UCLA basketball has been synonymous with success for over two decades. The Bruins have won 10 NCAA championships (1964-65-67-68-69-70-71-72-73-75) in the last 21 years and have captured 18 of the last 23 league titles. NBA superstars such as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Jamaal Wilkes of the Los Angeles Lakers, Kiki Vandeweghe, Bill Walton and Marques Johnson enjoyed outstanding careers at UCLA.

UCLA also has one of the most respected track and field programs in the nation. The Bruins own five NCAA championships (1956-66-71-72-73) and seven Track & Field News dual meet championships and have finished in the top five nationally 15 times in the last 20 years.

In water sports, the Bruins have won four NCAA championships and are always strong in this area. UCLA won its first swimming title in 1982 and has finished among the top five nationally in five of the last six years, including 1984 (fourth). The water polo squad has three NCAA championships to its credit (1969-71-72) and has finished fifth or better six times in the last 10 years.

A program on the rise at UCLA is gymnastics. In 1984, the Bruins won their first NCAA title after finishing second in 1982 and 1983 and third in 1981. In addition, the top three finishers in the Olympic Trials meet all competed at UCLA.

In women's athletics, the Bruins now own 13 national championships, including nine AIAW crowns and four NCAA titles. In five of the last seven years, the women's program has won the award for all-around excellence sponsored by the Santa Monica Evening-Outlook.

UCLA ON RADIO, TV

UCLA and METROSPORTS are in the second season of a three-year agreement in which METROSPORTS owns exclusive rights to live radio and delayed television broadcasts of Bruin football games.

All 11 games will be broadcast live over KMPC (710 AM) radio and the METROSPORTS/Golden West network. In addition to the network, which includes Central and Southern California, Las Vegas and Hawaii, the broadcasts will also be heard throughout the nation thanks to a satellite hookup arranged by Wold Communications in conjunction with METROSPORTS.

Kent Derdivanis and Joel Meyers will once again be calling the action in 1984, with a new twist. The two will alternate between the play-by-play and color commentary jobs, probably switching at halftime. Derdivanis, who spent the summer doing play-by-play for Boston Red Sox cable television, was the play-by-play announcer for the University of Arizona football and basketball teams for three years prior to taking over the Bruin job last season. Meyers, who serves as sports director at KMPC, was sports director at KSFO in San Francisco prior to coming to Los Angeles. He also announced St. Louis Cardinals baseball and St. Louis Steamer soccer while at KMOX radio in St. Louis.

UCLA's television plans were not definite at press time due to the Supreme Court ruling on the NCAA television plan. The Bruins will likely be part of a network package, the makeup of which was not known at press time. In addition, UCLA will appear on the new Pacific-10 Conference/METROSPORTS Game of the Week package. In the package, METROSPORTS will air a maximum of 15 games live throughout the Pac-10 area, and possibly the nation. KTLA (channel 5) will be the local outlet in Los Angeles.

In addition to UCLA and Pacific-10 football, METROSPORTS also syndicates Pacific-10, Big East and Big Ten basketball, Big Ten, Penn State and Notre Dame football, Notre Dame, Marquette, Penn State and DePaul basketball and the Aloha Bowl.

TERRY DONAHUE
(UCLA '67)
Head Football Coach

Throughout his eight-year career as UCLA's head football coach, Terry Donahue has enjoyed tremendous success and has won more than his share of big games. None, however, was any bigger than the Bruins' 45-9 triumph over Illinois in the 1984 Rose Bowl game.

In 1983, Donahue performed perhaps his finest coaching job ever. Following a rough start, the head coach was able to rally his troops to six victories in their final seven games, earning the Rose Bowl berth with a 27-17 victory over USC. On January 2, UCLA scored early and often, building a 28-3 halftime lead enroute to its second straight Rose Bowl win.

With two consecutive Pacific-10 and Rose Bowl championships to his credit, Donahue has firmly established himself as one of the finest coaches in the nation. Now entering his ninth season as the head coach at his alma mater, the former defensive tackle already ranks as one of the most successful coaches in UCLA history. His many achievements include:

- A perfect 4-0 record in the Rose Bowl — a victory as a player in 1966, a victory as an assistant coach in 1976 and two consecutive triumphs (1983 and 1984) as a head coach;
- A record of 62-26-5, giving him a winning percentage of .694, high enough to rank 14th among active coaches with at least five years of service at the Division I level;
- 62 career victories, third in school history behind Bill Spaulding (72 in 14 seasons) and Red Sanders (66 in nine);
- Three victories in four seasons over crosstown rival USC, becoming the first Bruin coach since Red Sanders to accomplish it;
- A winning percentage of .734 (33-11-3) in the 1980s and a Pacific-10 percentage of .750 (21-6-3) over the same span;
- Selection as 1983 Man of the Year by Football News;
- Being the first coach in UCLA history to lead his team to two consecutive Rose Bowls;
- Five bowl appearances in eight seasons, more than any other coach in UCLA history;
- An average of 7.8 victories per year, the highest ever at UCLA;
- Three seasons of at least nine victories, an accomplishment unmatched by any other Bruin coach;
- One of only two 10-win seasons in UCLA history;
- The second-highest winning percentage (.694) by a Bruin coach with at least three years of service;

COACH DONAHUE

- A 41-15-3 (.720) Pacific-10 record, two league championships and four second-place finishes in eight years;
- An 11-2-2 (.800) Pac-10 record, best in the league, and two championships in the last two years;
- UCLA's only two victories over Michigan as well as the school's only win in the state of Tennessee.

Donahue has enjoyed many remarkable victories during his career, including a 28-10 upset of Arizona State in his coaching debut (1976), UCLA's first victory over Washington in Seattle since 1958 (1976), three straight victories over Washington (1976-77-78) to become the first Bruin coach since Sanders to accomplish it, a 17-0 shutout against Ohio State in Columbus (1980), UCLA's first ever victory in Ann Arbor, defeating Michigan 31-27 after trailing 21-0 (1982), his second straight (third in four years) victory over USC (1983) and, of course, the Rose Bowl victories against Michigan (1983) and Illinois (1984).

Coach Donahue has been involved with three post-season all-star games — as an assistant at the 1979 Hula Bowl and the 1980 East-West Shrine Game and as the head coach for the West squad in the 1981 Shrine Game. Off the field, he is always in demand as a banquet speaker and clinic instructor and his pleasant, easy-going manner makes him an inviting media interview.

Another area in which Terry has experienced remarkable success is that of recruiting. In his eight full recruiting seasons, the Bruins have signed no less than 54 first-team high school All-Americans, including four who signed professional baseball contracts and never reached the Westwood campus. His 1977 class was judged best in the nation, his 1983 crop was mentioned in everyone's top ten and his 1984 group was ranked fourth nationally by one prep expert.

During his eight seasons, the Los Angeles native has developed 12 first-team All-America selections, including three-time choices Kenny Easley and Jerry Robinson (the only three-time consensus All-Americans in Pacific-10 Conference history) and one-timers Don Rogers, Freeman McNeil, Oscar Edwards, Jeff Dankworth, Luis Sharpe and Tim Wrightman. In addition, he has coached the No. 1 passer (Tom Ramsey) and the No. 1 percentage passer (Rick Neuheisel) in school history, as well as the top four career rushers (McNeil, Wendell Tyler, Theotis Brown and Kevin Nelson) and four of the top five career receivers (Cormac Carney, Jojo Townsell, Paul Bergmann and Wrightman).

No less than 34 of Coach Donahue's proteges were listed on the pre-season rosters of National Football League teams, including McNeil, an All-Pro running back; Easley, a Pro Bowl safety; Pro Bowl linebacker Robinson; running backs Tyler, Brown and James Owens; offensive linemen Sharpe, Bruce Davis, Brent Boyd, Larry Lee and Max Montoya; and defensive lineman Manu Tuiasosopo, to name a few. In addition, 16 Bruins who played under Donahue participated in the United States Football League's second season, including Neuheisel, Nelson, Bergmann, Ramsey, Townsell, defensive back Lupe Sanchez and offensive lineman Irv Eatman.

Only the third former Bruin player to become head coach at his alma mater (Bert LaBrucherie and George Dickerson were the others), Terry took over in February, 1976, after Dick Vermeil was appointed head coach of the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles. His first season was a great one as he led the Bruins to a 9-2-1 mark and a Liberty Bowl berth and became the only Bruin coach ever to win nine games in his rookie year. UCLA played its first 10 games without a loss (9-0-1), rose to No. 2 in both wire service polls and finished the year ranked second nationally in scoring and rushing offense and fourth in total offense.

In 1977, despite numerous injuries to key personnel, the Bruins finished the year with a 7-4 record and just missed earning a spot in the Rose Bowl. Only a field goal with two seconds remaining in the season finale kept them from playing in Pasadena.

In 1978, the Bruins had another fine year, earning a Fiesta Bowl bid and fashioning an 8-3-1 record. Highlights included a season-opening victory over defending Rose Bowl champion Washington, a school-record 10 interceptions against California and a No. 12 ranking on the final UPI poll.

The Bruins faced one of the toughest schedules in school history in 1979 and suffered numerous crippling injuries as a result. Highlights of the year included a 31-21 victory over Purdue, a 28-27 come-from-behind win over California and a school rushing record for tailback McNeil.

In 1980 the Bruins rolled through their first six opponents enroute to a No. 2 national ranking. After losing the next two games, they closed out the season with victories over Arizona State, USC and Oregon State to finish 13th on the final AP poll with a 9-2 record. Highlights included a 17-0 shutout of Ohio State in Columbus and Donahue's first victory over USC.

In 1981 UCLA came within another field goal of making a trip to the Rose Bowl. The Bruins fell three points shy of catching Stanford on the road and saw a last-second three-point attempt blocked in a 22-21 loss to USC. Still, they finished with a 7-4-1 record and played in the Bluebonnet Bowl on New Year's Eve.

In 1982, everything fell into place. The Bruins won 10 games for only the second time in history, defeated USC for the second time in three years, rallied from a 21-0 second-quarter deficit to defeat Michigan in Ann Arbor and won their first Pac-10 and Rose Bowl championships under Donahue. UCLA ranked third nationally in scoring offense, sixth in passing offense and seventh in total offense thanks to an attack that accounted for 300 or more passing yards six times.

Last year, the Bruins started slowly but rallied behind Neuheisel, who led his teammates to seven wins in their last eight games, including the Rose Bowl. Victories against California and Washington put them in position to earn a second straight Rose Bowl berth and their victory over USC, coupled with Washington State's win over Washington, clinched it. In the process, UCLA compiled a regular-season passing percentage of .690, the second-highest in NCAA history, and Steve Bono increased the school record for passing yards in one game to 399.

Coach Donahue first became associated with UCLA in the mid-1960s when he played for Tommy Prothro's first two UCLA squads (1965-66). He came to UCLA as a "walk-on" and after redshirting in 1964, he earned a starting spot at defensive tackle and held it for two years. During those two seasons the Bruins compiled a record of 17-3-1, including a memorable 14-12 upset of unbeaten Michigan State in the 1966 Rose Bowl, and Donahue started all 21 games during that span.

Following graduation, he became one of the nation's youngest major college assistant coaches when, at age 23, he joined former UCLA assistant Pepper Rodgers' staff at the University of Kansas. At KU, the young coach was in charge of the defensive line.

He stayed with Rodgers for four years at Kansas and then returned to his alma mater when Rodgers was named head coach at UCLA following the 1970 season.

At UCLA, Terry switched to the offensive line. He served in that capacity for three years under Rodgers (1971-73) and two years under Vermeil (1974-75). Donahue's last game as an assistant coach was on Jan. 1, 1976, when the Bruins upset undefeated Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. Less than six weeks later, Vermeil resigned to join the Eagles and Donahue became UCLA's 13th head coach.

Born on June 24, 1944, Terrence Michael Donahue began his athletic career at Notre Dame High School in Sherman Oaks, starring as a linebacker. After playing freshman football at San Jose State, Donahue returned home, attended a local junior college (he did not play football) and then enrolled at UCLA.

He is married to the former Andrea Sogas, whom he met and married while coaching at Kansas. They are the proud parents of three daughters: Nicole Denise, 12, Michele Lynn, 9, and Jennifer Erin, 5. The Donahue family currently resides in Westlake Village.

THE COACHING STAFF

NORM ANDERSEN

(UCLA '76)
Assistant Coach

Norm Andersen, a star receiver during his UCLA playing days, is entering his third season as running back coach at his alma mater. Prior to switching to the backfield in 1982, he spent four years tutoring the Bruin wide receivers as a volunteer and part-time assistant coach.

Last year was another successful one for Andersen and his running backs. The Bruin rushing game averaged 198.7 yards during the final seven games of the regular season and added 213 in the 45-9 triumph over Illinois in the Rose Bowl. In addition, the backs accounted for 66 receptions and ranked fourth in rushing in the Pacific-10 Conference.

The script was the same in 1982. The Bruins averaged over 200 yards per game on the ground down the stretch and the backs accounted for 63 receptions, more than double their 1981 total.

Catching footballs is an old forte of Andersen's. A three-year starter at UCLA (1973-75), he still ranks eighth in career receiving with 61 receptions for 1,051 yards. He led the Bruins in receiving as a sophomore and a junior, catching 19 passes in 1973 and 27 the following year. An All-Pacific-8 first-team selection in 1974, he was chosen in the 11th round of the 1976 NFL draft by the Chicago Bears.

Andersen, 31, began his UCLA coaching career as a volunteer in 1978 and became a part-time assistant the following year. During his four years working with the Bruin wide receivers, he tutored, among others, Cormac Carney and Jojo Townsell, the two finest in UCLA history. Carney completed his career with 108 catches, the most in school history, set a school record for catches in one season (46 — since broken) and was twice chosen to the Academic All-America team. Townsell, who ranks second to Carney with 100 receptions, set a school record with his 20 touchdown catches.

In Andersen's second season (1979) Townsell averaged 22 yards per reception and caught six touchdown passes. The following year, Carney caught 33 passes, the most by a Bruin in a decade. In 1981, Carney led the team for a second straight year, making 29 receptions, while Townsell added 26.

Like head coach Terry Donahue, Andersen is undefeated in Rose Bowl competition. On Jan. 1, 1976, he completed his playing career by helping the Bruins defeat Ohio State, 23-10. He is 2-0 as an assistant coach thanks to victories over Michigan and Illinois in the last two years.

During his prep career at Anaheim High, Norm came under the guiding hand of the legendary Clare VanHoorebeke, and was All-Orange County and All-CIF. He also served as football and basketball captain, and senior class president. In his first season at UCLA, he starred at split end and safety for the Brubabes, the Bruins' freshman team. Head coach Pepper Rodgers decided to redshirt Andersen in 1972 and the result was an outstanding three-year career.

BOB FIELD

(Arkansas '71)
Assistant Coach and
Co-Defensive Coordinator

Now entering his sixth season as coach of the outside linebackers, Bob Field enjoyed another fine year in 1983, coaching Neal Dellocono to first-team All-Pacific-10 honors and Doug West to a second-team berth.

In addition, Field is beginning his third year as co-defensive coordinator in charge of the defensive front seven. Two years ago, the Bruins held opponents to just 127.5 yards on the ground. Last season, they held eight Pac-10 opponents to an average of 110.8 rushing yards, kept five of their eight league foes under the 100-yard barrier and capped the year by holding Illinois to zero net yards rushing in the Rose Bowl.

Field, who will be building his outside linebacking corps around All-America candidate Dellocono, has made a habit of getting his teams into bowl games, having appeared in nine as a player and coach, including the 1983 and 1984 Rose Bowls.

Field originally came to UCLA in 1978, but left after the 1979 season to enter private business. When his replacement departed following the 1980 campaign, Field reapplied and was rehired. In 1979 and '81, Field's linebacking corps were riddled with injuries, but his development of UCLA's young talent proved invaluable to the team.

Field began his coaching career under the late Bear Bryant at Alabama (1971-72) and moved to Mississippi State in 1973. During his five-year tenure at MSU, he coached the secondary, served as defensive coordinator and, in his final year, was the Bulldog assistant head coach.

Field, 35, gained valuable experience during his collegiate playing career at Arkansas. He was a three-year (1968-70) letterman for Frank Broyles and became a regular in the defensive backfield midway through his sophomore season. In his three years on the varsity, the Razorbacks were 28-5 with a Sugar Bowl victory over Georgia.

An outstanding high school athlete at Farwell (Tex.) High School, Field earned four letters in football, three in basketball and two in track.

Field is married to the former Judy Hurley and they have three sons, Kyle, 11, Brian, 9, and Michael, 4. The Fields now reside in Westlake Village.

TOM HAYES

(Iowa '71)
Assistant Coach and Co-Defensive Coordinator

When it comes to developing outstanding secondary performers, assistant coach and co-defensive coordinator Tom Hayes has no peers. Now entering his fifth year on the Bruin staff, Hayes has tutored some of the finest performers in UCLA history.

Six defensive backs have intercepted at least 12 passes during their Bruin careers and Hayes has coached five of them, including leader Kenny Easley (19), second-place Don Rogers (14), Lupe Sanchez, tied for third place with 13 interceptions, and Tom Sullivan and Jimmy Turner, tied for fifth place with 12. Easley, Turner and Rogers, the latter the 18th pick of the 1984 NFL draft, are currently playing in the NFL while Sullivan and Sanchez are performing in the USFL. Rogers, Sullivan, Turner and Sanchez were the secondary starters on the Bruins' 10-1-1 Rose Bowl-championship squad of 1982.

Hayes, who has two returning starters (Ron Pitts and Joe Gasser) to build his 1984 secondary around, is also in his third year as UCLA's co-defensive coordinator in charge of the defensive backfield. During his first two seasons, UCLA intercepted 46 passes and broke up 92 others, including totals of 25 steals and 55 pass deflections a year ago, and tied for the Pac-10 lead in interceptions in 1983.

Hayes came to UCLA from Cal State Fullerton, where he worked as defensive coordinator under former Bruin assistant Jim Colletto. During the 1979 season, his only one at Fullerton, Tom had the Titans leading the Pacific Coast Athletic Association in total defense as well as pass defense after ranking last the previous campaign.

A native of Keokuk, IA, Hayes began his coaching career as secondary coach at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, IA, after two seasons as a high school assistant. In his one season at Coe (1973), the secondary set a Midwest Conference record with 27 interceptions while the team won the league title.

His next stop was Carroll, IA, where he served as head coach at Kuemper High School for three seasons (1974-76) before returning to his alma mater, the University of Iowa. Hayes spent the next two seasons (1977-78) as the Hawkeye secondary coach.

Hayes, 35, attended Atlantic (IA) High School where he was a multi-sport star, earning a total of nine letters in football, basketball and track (three each) as well as All-State honors in both football and basketball. At the University of Iowa, he was a three-year starter in the secondary and signed a free agent contract with the Cincinnati Bengals at the end of his collegiate career.

Hayes, whose brother-in-law, Ed Podolak, was a running back for the Kansas City Chiefs, is married to the former Cindy Kuiken and they have a son, Andy, 7, and a daughter, Lindsay, 4.

ED KEZIRIAN

(UCLA '73)
Assistant Coach

If anyone understands the importance of a good offensive line, it is assistant coach Ed Kezirian. Now entering his third season in charge of the Bruin tackles and tight ends, he still ranks as one of the finest offensive tackles ever to play at UCLA.

In 1973, Kezirian started on an offensive line that opened the holes for an awesome Wishbone-T attack that set single-season school records for rushing yardage (4,403) and average per game. In each of the last two years, his proteges have protected Bruin quarterbacks enroute to several records while helping the running backs average over 200 yards per game during the stretch drive of each season.

Last year, his second at UCLA, was a successful one for Kezirian. His tight end, Paul Bergmann, became the only player in school history to catch at least 40 passes in two different seasons. The second-team All-American concluded his career ranked fourth among UCLA's all-time receivers and first among tight ends. In 1982, Kezirian was the man in charge of tutoring Irv Eatman during his switch from defense to offensive tackle. The change enabled the Bruins to establish a running game and also proved beneficial to Eatman, who is now a standout with the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL.

This season, Kezirian will be in charge of an inexperienced group with the exception of pre-season All-America offensive tackle Duval Love, who is on the way to becoming a great tackle in the Luis Sharpe-Irv Eatman tradition.

Kezirian, 32, earned six varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball at Central Union High in Fresno. His fondest memories were catching a tackle-eligible touchdown pass and a two-point conversion pass for the winning points against Chowchilla as a senior and an interception that set up a TD while playing defensive tackle against Washington Union.

He spent two seasons at Reedley Junior College and two more at UCLA, earning all-conference honors and the Bruins' Kenneth S. Washington Award as the outstanding senior offensive player. After two years with the Southern California Sun of the World Football League, Ed returned to Westwood. His responsibilities during the next two seasons included coaching the offensive and defensive lines and scout teams.

In 1978 he was hired by Hawaii head coach and former Bruin assistant Dick Tomey. The next four years were spent coaching the Rainbows' tight ends, tackles and special teams. He coached the special teams his last two seasons and handled the entire offensive line in 1981.

Ed is married to the former Kay Lorraine Hall, and they have a son, Blane, 3, and a daughter, Christine, 1½.

BILL REES

(Ohio Wesleyan '76)
Assistant Coach

During the decade of the 1980s, UCLA has compiled a record of 33-11-3 and has won two Rose Bowl championships. As anyone knows, even the nation's finest coaches would have trouble winning games without talent and that's where Bill Rees comes in. UCLA's recruiting coordinator, Rees is responsible for locating high school prospects and developing UCLA's recruitment procedures that culminate with the signing of these prospects.

Rated as one of the nation's five best recruiting coordinators by Inside Sports magazine in 1982, Rees is entering his sixth year as a member of the Bruin staff. Since his appointment in 1979, he has helped UCLA sign 30 high school All-Americans, including current standouts Steve Bono, Duval Love, Neal Dellocono, John Lee and Ron Pitts, among others.

Prior to August of last year, Rees had been responsible for the entire athletic department's recruiting. At that time, his responsibilities were switched to include only football. In addition to his recruiting chores, he is in charge of scouting UCLA's non-conference opponents.

A native of Wilmette, IL, Rees, 30, came to UCLA from Northwestern University. He coached at NU for three seasons (1976-78), one tutoring the defensive backs and two as coach of the offensive backs. While there, he earned his MA in Education.

A multi-sport star at New Trier East High, Bill earned two letters each in football, basketball, and baseball. He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1976 after lettering three years in football.

DON RILEY

(East Tennessee State '56)
Assistant Coach

A year ago, Don Riley figured he would be depending upon seniors Chris Yelich and Steve Williams to handle the duties of offensive guard. Injuries sidelined the two seniors for most of the year but Riley, utilizing his many years of experience, molded an outstanding unit that helped the Bruins average almost 200 yards per game on the ground down the stretch.

This year, things will be different for Riley, the only remaining member of Terry Donahue's original staff (1976). Now entering his 28th year overall and ninth at UCLA, Riley has virtually his entire 1983 crew returning, including budding star Jim McCullough at right guard, center Dave Baran, center-guard Mark Mannon and left guard Mike Hartmeier (unless he stays at tackle). He has been instrumental in the development of all four players, especially Baran, who moved from tackle to center in spring of 1983. Riley also works with the place kickers and has developed Peter Boermeester, Norm Johnson and John Lee, three of the finest in school history.

During his 18 years as a collegiate assistant, Riley has produced several professional players, including former Bruin linemen Brent Boyd (Minnesota Vikings), John Tautolo (New York Giants), and Blake Wingle (Pittsburgh Steelers) and kicker Norm Johnson (Seattle Seahawks).

Before coming to Westwood in 1976, Riley spent four years at Oklahoma State (1972-75). Prior to that, he served six years at Vanderbilt (1966-71). If anything, Don's background is diverse. He has coached every position in collegiate football except the defensive line.

Following graduation from East Tennessee State University in Johnson City in 1956, he coached first at Lynch (KY) High, his alma mater, for three years (1956-58); one year (1959) at East Tennessee State, and then six years (1960-1965) as head coach and athletic director at Greenville (TN) High. Incidentally, in nine years of prep coaching, Don's teams won 70 percent of their games.

A fine athlete, Riley was an All-Kentucky State quarterback at Lynch High where he lettered in basketball as well. He then went to Lamar (CO) Junior College and starred at quarterback for one season. He transferred to East Tennessee State and played quarterback for three years. He also played two years of college baseball.

Born in Dungannon, VA, he is married to the former Carol Pierce of Lynch. They have three children, Donna, 23, Karen, 20, and Roger, 17.

GREG ROBINSON

(Pacific '75)
Assistant Coach

If how an assistant coach handles inexperience at his position is what separates the good ones and the great ones, based on last year's results, Greg Robinson looks to be one of the great ones.

Two seasons ago, his first in charge of the defensive line at UCLA, Robinson was blessed with nose guard Karl Morgan, the team's two-time defensive MVP, as well as tackle Mike Barbee and, for the first half of the year, Irv Eatman. In 1983, he began the year with players who had either seen only spot duty or who had never played a varsity game.

The results were better than anyone could have expected. The Bruins allowed an average of 110.8 yards per game on the ground during the Pacific-10 portion of the schedule and held Illinois to zero net yards in UCLA's 45-9 Rose Bowl triumph. Tackles Jeff Chaffin and David Randle earned All-Pac-10 honorable mention while starting 11 and six games, respectively.

This year, Robinson will build the line around Randle, who made 31 tackles a year ago; nose guard Chris Block, who started all 12 games and made 62 tackles; and tackle Mark Walen, who missed virtually the entire season after suffering a knee injury at Nebraska.

A native of Los Angeles, Robinson two years ago returned to the city of his birth with impressive credentials from

THE COACHING STAFF

North Carolina State, where he coached the previous two seasons. Three years ago, N.C. State held Fiesta Bowl champion Penn State to 198 total yards and highly-touted South Carolina to 124. Two of his proteges in Raleigh, linebackers Neal Musser (Atlanta) and Robert Abraham (Houston) made NFL rosters in 1982.

A fine recruiter, Robinson spent three seasons at Cal State Fullerton where he coached the Titan offensive linemen in 1977, defensive linemen in 1978 and the linebackers in '79. At the University of the Pacific, where he graduated in 1975 with a BA in Political Science, he tutored the receivers as a graduate assistant and later the defensive linemen.

Robinson, 32, prepped at Garces High in Bakersfield where he earned varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball. A versatile football player, he lettered two years at three positions, linebacker, tight end and center, while at UOP.

Following high school, he attended Bakersfield Junior College, receiving letters as a linebacker and tight end, while playing on the Renegade team that was ranked No. 1 nationally.

Robinson and his wife, the former Laura Breakey, have two children, Dominic, 5, and Lindsay, 3.

HOMER SMITH

(Princeton '54)
Assistant Coach and Offensive Coordinator

When it comes to planning offensive football strategy, no one does it better than Homer Smith. Now entering his fifth season as UCLA's offensive coordinator, Smith has helped his teams set bushels of rushing and passing records throughout his fine career.

In 1982, the foundation Smith and head coach Terry Donahue built resulted in "Air Donahue," a passing attack that set school records for touchdowns, completion percentage, completions and yardage. Tom Ramsey, with whom Smith worked for three years, led the nation in passing efficiency and ranked seventh in total offense while leading the Bruins to a 10-1-1 record and a Rose Bowl championship.

Last year, despite Ramsey's graduation, "Air Donahue" kept flying. Piloted by Rick Neuheisel, UCLA completed .690 of its passes during the regular-season, the second highest mark in NCAA history behind BYU's record of .707 set last year. Neuheisel, who capped his storybook season by throwing four touchdown passes in UCLA's 45-9 Rose Bowl triumph, ranked fifth nationally in passing efficiency.

In the last two years, UCLA has completed 441 of 676 passes (.652) for 5,972 yards (248.8 average) and 39 touchdowns. Both Ramsey and Neuheisel are now playing in the USFL, but Smith figures to keep UCLA at the top of the passing charts again in 1984. He will build his attack around Steve Bono, who set school records with 399 yards passing and 400 yards total offense against BYU, and wide receivers Mike Sherrard (a school-record 48 receptions in 1983), Karl Dorrell (26) and Mike Young (22).

In his first stint at UCLA (1972-73), Smith served under Pepper Rodgers and watched as running back Kermit Johnson gained over 2,000 yards rushing in two years. Smith returned to Westwood (1980) after five years as Army's head coach, and tutored Ramsey, who became UCLA's all-time leading passer.

This season, Smith will again be working with the receivers as well as the quarterbacks. Last year, three Bruin wide receivers caught at least 20 passes, topped by Mike Sherrard's school-record 48 receptions.

While at Army from 1974-78, Smith's teams were noted for their offense, and in 1976, quarterback Leamon Hall ranked sixth nationally in passing and seventh in total offense.

The most educated member of UCLA's coaching staff, Smith graduated with honors from Princeton in 1954. He earned his MBA from Stanford in 1960 and his MA in Theological Studies from Harvard in 1982.

Homer starred in football, basketball and track at Omaha (NE) Benson High and prepped at Lawrenceville School in Lawrence, NJ, before entering Princeton. There he won All-East and All-Ivy League honors at fullback as a junior and senior, and also was a standout in track. His biggest day as a collegian came in 1952 when he smashed school records by rushing for 273 yards and scoring four touchdowns against Harvard. He graduated in 1954 with honors in economics.

Smith's collegiate coaching career began in 1958 when he was named head frosh coach at Stanford. After three seasons (1958-60), he became backfield coach at the Air Force Academy, a position he held for four years (1961-64).

He then became a collegiate head coach, taking over at Davidson in 1965. He served in that capacity for five years (1965-69) and capped his career there by leading the team to a berth in the 1969 Tangerine Bowl. Then it was on to University of the Pacific, where he served for two seasons (1970-71) before joining the Bruin staff for the first time.

Smith, who has written numerous magazine articles and books on offense, was the 1969 regional Coach of the Year while at Davidson and the 1977 Eastern College Coach of the Year. He is married to the former Kathryn Haskell and they have two daughters, Kimberly, 28, and Carolyn, 25.

TED WILLIAMS

(Cal Poly Pomona '65)
Assistant Coach

Throughout his career at UCLA, Ted Williams has made a habit of overcoming inexperience and injury to produce a solid corps of inside linebackers. This year, he is hoping the script will be somewhat different.

Williams enters the 1984 season, his fifth at UCLA, with perhaps the most experienced group of players on the Bruin defense. Lee Knowles, who started nine games and made 81 tackles, and Tommy Taylor, who accounted for 47 stops on just 277 scrimmage plays, give the Bruins two fine starters while Steve Jarecki and Adam Hutchins lend experienced relief. If they can stay free of injuries, this foursome should make things miserable for opposing ball carriers.

If not, Williams will just have to perform more of his magic. Three years ago, he tutored the tandem of junior Blanchard Montgomery, a converted running back, and sophomore Ron Butler into an effective tandem. Two years ago, he developed Knowles to team with Montgomery while Taylor began to flash his potential. Last year, the Bruin inside linebackers spent more time in the training room than on the field, but Williams was able to make the adjustments necessary to keep the Bruins effective on the inside.

The personable Williams joined the UCLA staff in March, 1980, from Los Angeles City College, where he had been named head coach the previous month. Prior to that he had enjoyed an outstanding prep coaching career in the Los Angeles area. As the head coach at Compton High for six years, Williams led Compton to a fine 44-21-3 record, a CIF Coastal Conference title (1978) and a CIF runnerup finish in 1979.

Prior to becoming head coach at Compton, he worked at the school for six seasons as an assistant coach. His assignments included tackles and tight ends, linebackers and defensive ends, down linemen, receivers, running backs and quarterbacks, giving him first-hand knowledge on coaching many different positions.

In addition to his coaching assignments, Williams also served as Compton athletic director from 1974-77 and taught biology, mathematics and physical education.

Williams, 40, graduated from Cal Poly Pomona in 1965 with a degree in Physical Education. While at Pomona, he lettered in basketball and baseball. He also owns a Masters Degree in Physical Education as well as Standard Teaching, Supervision and Administrative Credentials from Cal State University, Los Angeles.

A native of Lyons, TX, Williams was married to the former Gwendolyn Tolliver, who passed away in 1982. Williams has two children, Darryl, 14, and Terri, 12.

JOHN ARCE

(Arizona '77)
Athletic Department Strength and Conditioning Coach

John Arce is in his first year as UCLA's strength and conditioning coach, having joined the staff this past January. His duties include planning and supervising weight training and conditioning programs for not only the football squad, but all of UCLA's men's and women's intercollegiate teams.

A southern California product, Arce spent the last four years as the conditioning coordinator at Purdue University. Prior to that, he worked as a graduate assistant football coach at Purdue, serving as defensive coordinator of the varsity reserve squad.

Arce, 30, attended Lakewood High School and was a standout football and baseball player. As a senior in 1971, he earned All-CIF and Moore League honors while playing fullback and linebacker. The following Spring, he batted .320 as an outfielder/first baseman.

During his collegiate career as a linebacker and kicking specialist at the University of Arizona, Arce earned four letters and helped the Wildcats win a Western Athletic Conference co-championship in 1973. He graduated in 1977 with a degree in Education and Rehabilitation. In addition, he also did graduate work at Purdue, in Exercise Physiology and Physical Education.

A charter member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association, Arce was the Indiana state director in 1979. He has written numerous articles and spoken at various clinics with regards to physical development of the competitive athlete and has helped train numerous professional athletes in the last seven years.

The new Bruin coach is married to the former Rhonda Byroad and they have two children, Rori, 3, and Reeve, 1.

JOHN ROME

(La Verne '78)
Part-Time Assistant Coach

John Rome is in his first year as a member of the UCLA coaching staff following a successful career at the high school and junior college level. Rome's responsibilities include assisting offensive coordinator Homer Smith with the receivers, coaching the defensive scout team and working with the game films.

A former defensive lineman, Rome, 28, starred at the University of La Verne, earning NAIA All-America acclaim as a senior middle guard in 1977. He served as captain in 1976 and 1977 and was chosen All-Conference and All-California Small College three times. The new Bruin coach attended Burbank High School when he earned All-CIF honors as a defensive tackle in 1973.

Prior to joining the Bruin staff, Rome served two years as coach of the offensive backs at Glendale College. During that time, Glendale won two Western State Conference championships and was ranked 10th and 18th nationally. He also coached at Burbank High for three years, serving as offensive coordinator in charge of quarterbacks and wide receivers for two years (1980 and 1981) and as outside linebacker and offensive line coach for one season (1978), and served for one year (1979) at Bonita High in Pomona, handling the offensive backs and defensive line.

Rome, who is married to the former Cindy Van Order, is related to former major league umpire Ron Luciano.

FRANK STEPHENS

(UCLA '78)
Part-Time Assistant Coach

Frank Stephens is now entering his third year as a member of the Bruin staff and the first two have been very successful, culminating in Rose Bowl victories. Stephens' 1984 responsibilities include assisting co-defensive coordinator Tom Hayes with the defensive backs, coaching the offensive scout team and working with game films and computers.

Stephens, 28 enjoyed a successful career as a UCLA outside linebacker, starting 27 games over three years, including all 12 as a junior in 1976 and all 11 as a senior in 1977. In his final year, he earned second-team All-Pacific-8 honors while making 136 tackles, second only to three-time All-American Jerry Robinson. He was also chosen co-winner of UCLA's Kenneth S. Washington Award for Outstanding Senior. As a junior in 1976, he was second to Robinson with 119 tackles and earned All-Coast and All-Pac-8 second-team honors. He also made 58 tackles as a part-time starter in 1975, helping the Bruins win the Pac-8 championship. However, he suffered a broken ankle prior to the USC contest and was not able to play in the 1976 Rose Bowl.

Prior to attending UCLA, the third-year coach earned All-CIF honors at San Diego High School. In addition to starring in football, he also lettered in baseball, basketball, track and soccer.

THE 1984 BRUINS

The decade of the 1980s has been a very successful one for the UCLA football program. During the last four years, the Bruins have compiled records of 33-11-3 (.734) overall and 21-6-3 (.750) in Pacific-10 Conference play, have played in three bowl games (they were not eligible in 1980) and have defeated crosstown rival USC three times.

The last two years have ranked among the most successful in school history. In 1982, the Bruins won 10 games for only the second time ever, finished fifth on both wire service polls and capped the season with a victory over Michigan in the Rose Bowl. Last year, they rebounded from an 0-3-1 start to capture their second consecutive Pac-10 title and completed the comeback with a 45-9 triumph over Illinois in the Rose Bowl. That victory was enough to move UCLA into 13th place on the final UPI poll.

Many of the stars from last year's Rose Bowl unit are gone but Terry Donahue, now entering his ninth season as head coach at his alma mater, will still have an experienced squad in 1984. No less than 47 lettermen who helped the Bruins win their second consecutive Rose Bowl title will be suiting up again in 1984, including 14 who started at least half the games a year ago. In addition, the Bruins will be playing seven of their 11 games at home in the Rose Bowl after having just four home contests in 1983.

Those players who started 1983 games are: Offense — RT Duval Love (12), RG Jim McCullough (11), LG Mark Mannon (9 — 5 at LG and 4 at C), C Dave Baran (8), LT Mike Hartmeier (7 at LG), SE Mike Sherrard (7), FL Mike Young (7 — 6 at FL and 1 at SE), FL Karl Dorrell (7 — 6 at FL and 1 at SE), TE Derek Tennell (5 at FB), SB Bryan Wiley (4) and QB Steve Bono (2); Defense — RC Ron Pitts (12), OLB Neal Dellocono (12 — 10 at OLB and 2 at ILB), NG Chris Block (12), SS Joe Gasser (11), ILB Lee Knowles (9), DLT David Randle (6), ILB Tommy Taylor (6), OLB Tony Phillips (2), LC Herb Welch (1 at SS). In addition, all three kickers (John Lee, Ken Potter and Kevin Buenafe) return along with long snappers Terry Theodore and Scott Franklin.

Among the returnees, Love earned third-team All-America acclaim from Football News in 1983 and is a pre-season selection by Playboy. Sherrard earned second-team All-America honors from The Sporting News, Dellocono was a second-team All-Coast and first-team All-Pacific-10 choice and Randle earned All-Pac-10 honorable mention.

LOSSES — 21 lettermen, including the following players who started games in 1983: Offense — LT Scott Gordon (12), TE Paul Bergmann (11), QB Rick Neuheisel (10), TB Kevin Nelson (10), TB Frank Cephous 5 (3 at FB and 2 at TB), TE Harper Howell (4) and RG Chris Yelich (1); Defense — FS Don Rogers (12), LC Lupe Sanchez (12), OLB Doug West (12), DRT Jeff Chaffin (11 — 6 at DLT and 5 at DRT), DLT Ken Page (8 — 6 at DRT and 2 at DLT), ILB Mike Mahan (3) and ILB Gene Mewborn (2). Offensively, the Bruins lost some of the key ingredients from last year's Rose Bowl squad. Neuheisel, who arrived at UCLA in 1979

as a walkon, capped his rags-to-riches senior year by passing for four touchdowns in UCLA's 45-9 victory over Illinois, earning Player of the Game honors. He finished his career as the school record holder in virtually every passing percentage category. Bergmann, a second-team All-American, ranks fourth in career receptions at UCLA and is the only player in school history to catch more than 40 passes in a single year twice. Nelson was the backfield workhorse down the stretch and now ranks fourth on UCLA's career rushing chart while Cephous provided valuable relief and scored the winning touchdowns in comeback victories over California and Washington. Defensively, Rogers earned first-team All-America honors while leading the Bruins in tackles for a third straight season. Sanchez established himself as one of the nation's finest cornerbacks, West earned second-team All-Pac-10 honors and Chaffin was selected honorable mention All-Pac-10.

MIKE YOUNG

PASSING GAME — In the last two years, UCLA has completed 65.2 percent of its passes for 5,912 yards and 39 touchdowns. Year three of Air Donahue figures to be just as successful as years one and two thanks to the return of several valuable performers. First and foremost is offensive co-captain and senior quarterback STEVE BONO (6-3¾, 210), who figures to pick up where Tom Ramsey and Rick Neuheisel left off in 1982 and 1983, respectively. Although relatively inexperienced in game action (he owns just two varsity starts), he demonstrated his talents last year against BYU, throwing for a school-record 399 yards and three touchdowns in the first start of his career. While Bono's status as No. 1 is settled, two youngsters will battle for playing time behind the senior. Junior DAVID NORRIE (6-4¾, 220) and sophomore MATT STEVENS (5-11½, 200) both have their particular strengths and the coaches will have a tough time separating the two. Norrie, now in his fourth year, has an excellent 'touch' on the ball while Stevens, in his third season, possesses the strongest arm of the quarterbacks. "Steve enjoyed a good spring," says coach Donahue. "He demonstrated against BYU that he has the talent to do the job but we have to remember that he's only played in one full game. I certainly feel that he will enjoy a fine senior year. He adds a dimension to our offense with his mobility and we will want to exploit that strength. I also feel that David and Matt are both capable of stepping in and doing a good job if necessary." The quarterbacks will be throwing to one of the best groups of wide receivers in school history. Leading the way is junior split end MIKE SHERRARD (6-1¾, 185), who established a new school record by grabbing 48 aerials, good for 709 yards and two scores. The Sporting News second-team All-American earned a roster spot in 1981 as a non-scholarship player and has worked hard to become one of the nation's finest receivers. In 1983, MIKE YOUNG (6-1¼, 185) and KARL DORRELL (5-11, 186) split time at the flanker position, each starting seven times (once each at split end). This year, they will again handle the flanker chores and Young will also see action at split end, similar to the rotation used in the Rose Bowl contest. Dorrell, a junior, was third on the squad with 26 receptions and led all receivers with six touchdowns, including two versus Illinois. Young, a senior who caught five passes for 129 yards against the Fighting Illini, led the receivers by averaging 19.8 yards on each of his 22 receptions. In addition to his Big Three, Donahue has several other receivers with fine potential who will be battling for playing time, including junior AL WILSON (6-0¼, 175) and second-year freshman WILLIE ANDERSON (5-11,154) at split end and sophomore DAVID CLINTON (5-7, 180) and second-year freshman PACO CRAIG (5-10, 161) at flanker. While there is great experience at the wide receiver spots, there is virtually none at tight end due to the departure of Paul Bergmann and Harper Howell. Sophomore GREG BOLIN (6-1¾, 230), who has seen action in multiple tight end formations, and sophomore DEREK TENNELL (6-4½, 25), who spent the 1983 season splitting time with Bryan Wiley at fullback, are the two front runners while added depth should come from sophomore walkon JEFF NOWINSKI (6-3¼, 231), second-year freshman JOE PICKERT (6-4, 218) and converted linebacker JIM MASTERA (6-2½, 230). "Obviously, we are pleased to have our top three split receivers returning in 1984," says Donahue. "This figures to be one of our stronger positions. As for tight end, Bolin's strength lies in the receiving area and we feel Tennell has fine potential as a receiver and a blocker. It should be interesting to see which player emerges as the leader in the fall."

DAVE BARAN

OFFENSIVE LINE — The Bruins have five players who each started at least seven games a year ago and by switching one of them to another position, it appears that all five could be on the field when the Bruins open against San Diego State on September 8. Offensive co-captain and preseason All-American DUVAL LOVE (6-2¾, 265) is the leader of the line. A two-year starter, this senior tackle is one of the nation's finest players at his position and should garner numerous post-season honors. He is the latest in a line of fine UCLA offensive linemen which includes first-team All-American Luis Sharpe, now with the St. Louis Cardinals, and Irv Eatman, now an All-Pro tackle with the Philadelphia Stars. A year ago, junior JIM McCULLOUGH (6-5¼, 263) took over the right guard slot when Chris Yelich was sidelined with injuries and he figures to keep his grip on the job through the 1985 campaign. A whatever-it-takes type of player, he teams with

Love to give the Bruins an outstanding duo on the right side of the line. In 1983, DAVE BARAN (6-5¼, 262) was the subject of a big experiment, having moved from tackle to center. Now, Baran is an established performer, having started eight games during the Rose Bowl campaign while seeing extensive action in the other four. The player he shared time with at center — MARK MANNON (6-4, 250) — will play exclusively at left guard in 1984 after alternating between center and guard a year ago. Mannon, a senior, started nine games in 1983, five at guard and four at center. The fifth member of the line figures to be junior MIKE HARTMEIER (6-5, 263), who alternated with Mannon at left guard a year ago, starting seven times. Near the end of spring practice, the coaches decided they wanted the five best linemen playing together and switched Hartmeier to left tackle. However, he immediately broke his ankle and was sidelined for the remainder of spring drills. He is expected to be fully recovered in time to face San Diego State. ROBERT COX (6-5, 250), a junior college transfer, and sophomore ONNO ZWANEVELD (6-4¾, 261) could push for a starting berth at tackle if Hartmeier is not ready to play, otherwise they will add depth at the position. Other squad members who figure to see action include sophomore ERIC ROGERS (6-3¾, 263) and second-year freshman JOHN KIDDER (6-5, 264) at tackle; senior KEVIN CRONIN (6-4½, 255), junior EARL SMITH (6-1¼, 245), sophomore JIM ALEXANDER (6-4½, 247) and second-year freshman CHRIS COX (6-5¼, 235) at guard; and sophomore JOE GOEBEL (6-5¾, 250) and second-year freshman STEVE DAVIS (6-4¾, 221) at center. "We feel that the offensive line will be one of the strengths of our offensive football team," says the head coach. "We have more experienced players returning this season than we have had in several years and they should develop into a good group. In Duval Love, I feel we have an outstanding player and a fine leader and I expect him to enjoy a great senior season."

DANNY ANDREWS

RUNNING GAME — As was the case in 1982, the running game shifted into high gear during the latter half of the season. The Bruins averaged just under 200 yards per game on the ground during the final seven regular-season contests and added 213 in the Rose Bowl victory. However, the Bruins face the 1984 season without their top two rushers — Kevin Nelson and Frank Cephous — and will need come-through performances from the veterans in this area. In 1982, DANNY ANDREWS (5-10¾, 175) led the Bruins with 482 yards rushing and a 5.0 average. In 1983, Andrews rushed for 450 yards but saw his average dip to 4.1. If the Bruins are to mount a successful running attack in 1984, they will need the senior weak back to return to the form he flashed as a sophomore, when he averaged 101.3 yards in the final three regular-season contests. Sophomore GREG FRANCOIS (5-10¼, 195), who carried the ball three times in the Rose Bowl, and second-year freshmen ALAN DIAL (6-0¼, 173) and JAMES PRIMUS (5-10½, 185) figure to battle for playing time behind the experienced Andrews. Senior strong back BRYAN WILEY (6-1, 206) missed the first half of the 1983 campaign with a broken wrist, but by the end of the year, he was the Bruins' starting fullback. A strong runner as well as a good blocker, Wiley rushed for 137 yards a year ago and led the team with his 4.9 average. Sophomore MARCUS GREENWOOD (5-11, 207), a transfer from the Air Force Academy, is expected to see duty at both strong and weak back, filling the role handled by Cephous a year ago. Sophomore BOB GARIBALDI (5-10¼, 184) should also make his presence felt in the backfield. "Despite our losses, we could have a strong running game this year," states Donahue, "I was pleased with Danny's progress in the spring and Bryan is a steady performer who also enjoyed good practice sessions. Marcus is a powerful runner and we are asking him to learn both the strong and weak back positions. If we can stay healthy we should be all right in this area."

CHRIS BLOCK

DEFENSIVE LINE — "We have a good, solid nucleus of athletes who play hard and with great enthusiasm," Donahue says when discussing his defensive line. "We should have some keen competition for playing time and we will continue to emphasize improving our pass rush." Defensive left tackle DAVID RANDLE (6-3½, 237) and nose guard CHRIS BLOCK (6-3¼, 256) are the veterans of the group. Randle, who started six times a year ago and earned All-Pac-10 honorable mention, is one of the stronger players on the squad. He made 31 tackles in 1983. Block was one of the year's big surprises after redshirting in 1982. He started all 12 games and accounted for 62 tackles, second only to departed Jeff Chaffin among defensive linemen. He missed all of spring practice with a broken wrist but is expected to be ready for fall drills. The early favorite for the right tackle slot is junior MARK WALEN (6-5, 245), who had his sophomore season ruined by a knee injury in the third game of the year (Nebraska) but recovered in time to play in the Rose Bowl. There are several young players who figure to see action behind the veteran trio, including three sophomores — left tackle FRANK BATCHKOFF (6-4½, 238), who participated in over 200 scrimmage plays a year ago; nose guard TORY PANKOPF (6-2¾, 238) and right tackle WES JORDAN (6-2¾, 223) — and three second-year freshmen — left tackle JEFF GLASSER (6-3½, 235), nose guard TERRY TUMEY (6-1¾, 221) and right tackle DOUG WASSEL (6-3½, 228).

TOMMY TAYLOR

LINEBACKERS — This area figures to be the strength of the defensive unit in 1984. In outside linebacker NEAL DELLOCONO (6-0¾, 222), UCLA has one of the nation's finest performers at his position. A second-team All-Coast selection a year ago, the defensive co-captain is expected to enjoy a banner senior year. His 86 tackles in 1983 placed him third on the squad and he seems to deliver the big play when it's needed. Junior TONY PHILLIPS (6-0, 210), who started twice last year when Dellocono moved inside, takes over Doug West's old job at right outside linebacker. A one-time running back, Phillips made 34 tackles in 1983. Senior RON BUTLER (6-2¼, 229), who missed virtually all of last season with back problems, returns to the team but has moved from his inside linebacker position to the outside since there is generally less traffic at his new spot. One of the more experienced players on the team, Butler started 20 games in 1981 and 1982. Senior TERRY MOORE (6-0¼, 200), who did a fine job as a reserve a year ago, and second-year freshmen MELVIN JACKSON (6-3½, 222) and DAVID SIMPSON (6-0½, 192) all figure to see action this season. On the inside, the Bruins appear solid with senior LEE KNOWLES (6-1¼, 223), juniors TOMMY TAYLOR (6-0½, 238) and STEVE JARECKI (6-2¼, 225) and sophomore ADAM HUTCHINS (6-1¾, 225). Knowles, a defensive co-captain, started nine games in 1983 and made 81 tackles to rank fifth on the team despite participating in just 452 scrimmage plays. Taylor was bothered by injuries throughout the campaign yet corralled 47 opposing ball carriers in just 277 plays. One of the hardest hitters on the squad, Taylor has tremendous physical ability and gives the Bruins an outstanding one-two combination at ILB when healthy. Jarecki began the 1983 season at outside linebacker and had to undergo arthroscopic knee surgery early in the campaign. When he returned, he shifted to inside linebacker and gave the Bruins quality relief, making nine tackles versus USC. Hutchins made his varsity debut against Nebraska and showed enough in limited appearances to project himself into the picture for 1984. Second-year freshman EUGENE McGAUGH (5-11¼, 205), who earned a roster spot last year as a non-scholarship player, could also see action in a reserve role. "Neal Dellocono is one of the most experienced and gifted athletes on the team," says the head coach. "Three of our four projected starters (Dellocono, Knowles and Taylor) have extensive experience and I feel we have other players who can give us quality depth. We should be fine at linebacker as long as we stay healthy."

RON PITTS

SECONDARY — It will be tough to replace Don Rogers, the All-American free safety, and Lupe Sanchez, an All-Coast cornerback, but the Bruins still have several talented performers populating the defensive backfield. Senior RON PITTS (5-10, 180) had to play in the enormous shadow cast by Rogers and Sanchez a year ago, but he should finally get the recognition he deserves in 1984. A year ago he was credited with 87 tackles, second only to Rogers' 143, and led the squad with 886 scrimmage plays. Stepping into Sanchez' left cornerback spot will be senior HERB WELCH (5-10¾, 175), who did a good job as a special teams performer a year ago. Sophomore CHUCKIE MILLER (5-8½, 167) saw extensive playing time in passing situations as a freshman and figures to be the first substitute at cornerback since he can play either side. Sophomore KIRK ALEXANDER (5-11, 177) should also see action in the defensive backfield after lettering as a special teams player. Junior JOE GASSER (5-10½, 180) is the other returning starter in the secondary, having opened at strong safety 11 times a year ago. One of just six defensive players to make more than 70 tackles in 1983 (72), he also ranked second to Rogers with his five interceptions. Stepping into Rogers' vacated free safety spot is second-year freshman JAMES WASHINGTON (6-0¾, 185). Although the youngster has yet to perform in a varsity contest, he has exhibited the athletic ability necessary to play the position the way it has been played at UCLA for the last six or seven years. Versatile second-year freshman DENNIS PRICE (6-0½, 158), who can play cornerback as well, will be the first safety into the game. Junior strong safety JOSH SHINNICK (5-11¾, 191) and sophomore free safety CRAIG RUTLEDGE (6-0½, 184), two valuable special teams performers, also figure to see action in the secondary. "We have the tough task of trying to replace two of the finest performers in school history (Rogers and Sanchez) but I was encouraged by what I saw during spring practice. Two of our top six defensive backs have yet to play in a game and this concerns me, but I feel we will be all right as long as we can avoid injuries to our front-line players," Donahue says in regard to his secondary.

JOHN LEE

KICKING GAME — Once again, this area will be solid in 1984. In JOHN LEE (5-10¾, 175), the Bruins have a potent offensive weapon. The junior has already established himself as perhaps the finest place kicker in UCLA history and ranks as one of the nation's best as well. He has 31 career field goals to his credit, tying one school record, and set another in 1983 with 16 three-pointers (on 20 attempts). Senior KEN POTTER (6-1, 207) has handled the kickoff chores for the last two seasons with fantastic results, having just 32 of his 135 kickoffs returned during that span. He was at his best last year when only 10 of his 59 kicks were returned. Senior KEVIN BUENAFE (6-0, 205) is entering his fourth year as the Bruin punter, kicking in nine of 12 games and averaging 42.1 yards per attempt a year ago. He is just 30 kicks and 585 yards shy of the UCLA career records for punts and punting yardage. Junior TERRY THEODORE (6-1½, 221) will be handling the long snaps on placements for the third straight year while junior SCOTT FRANKLIN (6-1¾, 194) will be snapping to the Bruin punters for the second consecutive season. Flanker DAVID CLINTON (5-7, 180) will assume the holding duties performerd by Rick Neuheisel for the last three seasons. "All of the kickers have at least two years experience and there is every reason to believe they will be even better than a year ago," says coach Donahue.

Full name is Willie Lee Anderson, Jr. . . . Nicknamed Flipper . . . Major undeclared.

24 DANNY ANDREWS, Weak Back
5-10¾, 175, Sr., Carson, CA

UCLA — Will be a key performer for the Bruins in 1984 . . . The most experienced of the Bruin running backs, he was the team's No. 3 rusher in 1983 with 450 net yards . . . Enjoyed a fine spring practice, demonstrating his running and pass-receiving abilities . . . Is also expected to provide senior leadership . . . With continued hard work, he could become one of the Pacific-10's premier running backs . . . Enters his senior year with 1,039 yards and 11 touchdowns . . . Averaged 4.1 yards per attempt in 1983, down from 5.0 a year earlier . . . Was at his best against Stanford, rushing for 77 yards, including a one-yard touchdown, versus the Cardinal . . . Accounted for 60 yards on 13 carries versus Arizona State and ran for 50 at Oregon, 49 at Arizona, 46 at Georgia and 45 at Washington State . . . Tallied two third-quarter touchdowns against the Cougars . . . In addition to rushing for 450 yards, he also caught 11 passes for 121 yards (11.0 average) and returned four kickoffs for a 19.8 average . . . Ranked 10th in the Pac-10 Conference with an average of 43.7 yards per game . . . Capped a successful sophomore season by rushing for 42 yards in the 1983 Rose Bowl, including a nine-yard touchdown with 12 seconds remaining in the third quarter to give the Bruins a 17-7 lead enroute to their 24-14 victory over Michigan . . . The team's leading rusher with 482 yards, Andrews was at his best down the stretch, averaging 101.3 yards in the final three regular-season games . . . Came off the bench to gain 78 yards against Washington, started the following week against Stanford and responded with a career-high 148 yards and concluded the regular-season with a 78-yard effort against USC, including a 23-yard touchdown late in the first quarter . . . Added 79 yards, the No. 3 effort by a Bruin in 1982, versus Washington State . . . Started five of the final seven games that year . . . In addition to leading the team in rushing, he also caught nine passes out of the backfield . . . Had career longs of 28 yards on the ground versus Washington and 26 yards in the air versus USC in 1982 . . . Was one of three winners of UCLA's George W. Dickerson Award for Outstanding Offensive Player in the USC Game . . . Saw limited action as a freshman, starting one game when Kevin Nelson was unable to play . . . Made the most of it, rushing for 54 yards and three touchdowns against Oregon . . . Only Freeman McNeil, the school's all-time leading rusher, ever ran for more touchdowns in one game . . . Collected 107 yards on 33 carries that year . . . HIGH SCHOOL — Lettered in football under coach Chris Ferragamo at Banning High in Wilmington, CA . . . Came to UCLA after leading Banning to three straight City championships . . . Selected to virtually every prep All-America team, including Parade and Coach & Athlete magazines and the National High School Athletic Coaches Association . . . Earned All-City honors twice and was selected co-Player of the Year in 1980 . . . Rushed for 908 yards and 12 touchdowns on 117 carries as a senior after garnering 1,034 yards and 13 TDs on 127 attempts as a junior . . . Set a City championship game record with 221 yards on 29 carries as a junior . . . Served as football captain . . . PERSONAL — Born in Long Beach, CA . . . Hometown is Carson . . . Uncle, Dee Andrews, was an All-American running back at Long Beach Poly High School, Long Beach City College and Long Beach State . . . Cousins Willie Brown and Gene Washington were also All-Americans at Poly High . . . Brown went on to enjoy a fine career at USC while Washington starred with Stanford and the San Francisco 49ers . . . Hobbies include music and basketball . . . Full name is Danny Ray Andrews . . . Wears the same number (24) as former Banning and UCLA All-American Freeman McNeil . . . History major.

12 STEVE BONO, Quarterback and Offensive Co-Captain
6-3¾, 210, Sr., Norristown, PA

UCLA — A key performer for the Bruins in 1984, it will be Bono's job to keep UCLA's air attack operating at top efficiency . . . Demonstrated during his limited appearances a year ago that he possesses the abilities necessary to handle the position . . . Set new single-game passing and total offense records in the first start of his career, accounting for 399 passing yards and 400 total yards in UCLA's 37-35 loss to BYU . . . One week later, against Stanford, he suffered a separated right shoulder in the first quarter and was sidelined until the Rose Bowl game . . . His 399 yards through the air shattered Tom Ramsey's record of 345, set two years ago against Arizona, as well as the team record of 397 yards, established in the 1982 California game . . . His 400 yards total offense broke the record of 390 set by John Sciarra versus Tennessee in 1974 . . . Both marks were high for the year in the Pacific-10 Conference . . . Was at his best in the second half of the BYU contest, completing 17 of 26 passes for 301 yards . . . Connected with flanker and roommate Mike Young for two fourth-quarter touchdowns measuring 58 and 36 yards . . . Saw limited action versus Georgia and Nebraska before moving into the starting lineup . . . On the year, he completed 33 of 48 passes (68.8%) for 495 yards and three scores . . . Also punted in three games, including the Rose Bowl, and averaged 36.5 yards on 13 kicks . . . Was bothered by tendinitis throughout the summer of 1983, putting him behind Rick Neuheisel at the start of fall drills . . . Finally earned the starting job against BYU but was injured seven days later . . . Possesses an exceptionally quick throwing arm and an exceptional pair of legs for a quarterback . . . His mobility adds another dimension to the offense because he is able to turn a possible sack into positive yardage . . . Has a good grasp of the offensive system since he has been in the program throughout its development . . . Selected one of four 1984 captains by his teammates . . .

99 STEVE JARECKI, Inside Linebacker
6-2¼, 225, Jr., Napa, CA

UCLA — Steve Jarecki made a personal comeback in 1983 to match that of the UCLA team . . . The junior suffered a knee injury in the year's second game (Arizona State) . . . Arthroscopic surgery sidelined him for seven games and when he returned, he was asked to move from outside to inside linebacker . . . Was able to make a rapid adjustment, as evidenced by his nine-tackle performance (54 scrimmage plays) versus USC . . . Even though he was making good progress on the outside, his future at UCLA appears to be on the inside . . . An aggressive, hard-hitting player, he brings knowledge and experience to his new position . . . It was a challenge for him to learn the many facets of the inside linebacker spot but he progressed nicely during spring practice . . . Enters fall drills listed No. 2 but could battle Tommy Taylor for a starting berth . . . Played 98 snaps a year ago and made 17 tackles, including nine against USC . . . Major undeclared.

85 LEE KNOWLES, Inside Linebacker and Defensive Co-Captain
6-1¼, 223, Sr., Huntington Beach, CA

UCLA — One of the most dependable inside linebackers on the West Coast, Knowles continued to improve during spring practice and should enjoy a stellar senior campaign . . . One of the team's most aggressive performers, he always plays with great intensity . . . His toughness was illustrated last year when he missed just two games and three starts due to arthroscopic surgery following the Nebraska game . . . In fact, he re-entered the game against the Cornhuskers despite his knee injury because the Bruins were out of inside linebackers . . . Can play both the strong and weak side spots and performed at both positions a year ago . . . One of four 1984 team captains selected by the Bruins . . . Capped his junior season by making a team-high 10 tackles, including one for loss, in UCLA's 45-9 Rose Bowl triumph . . . On the year, he made 81 stops, including 54 unassisted, to rank fifth on the squad and first among inside linebackers . . . 9 DAVID NORRIE, Quarterback
6-4¾, 220, Jr., Portland, OR

UCLA — Enters his junior year as the top reserve behind quarterback Steve Bono . . . Did not appear in a game during the 1983 regular season but saw brief action in the Rose Bowl . . . Would have played against Illinois if Rick Neuheisel had been sidelined due to Bono's shoulder injury . . . Also served as Tom Ramsey's backup in the 1983 Rose Bowl because of Neuheisel's shoulder injury . . . The tallest of the Bruin quarterbacks, he continues to demonstrate exceptional touch on his passes in practices and scrimmages . . . An excellent all-around athlete who continues to compile high completion percentages in practice . . . Will have to continue his hard work to stay ahead of Matt Stevens, but enters fall drills listed No. 2 behind Bono . . . Appeared in three games in 1982, completing one of two passes for 11 yards against Oregon and adding 11 yards on two carries against the Ducks . . . Rushed for 14 yards on the year . . . 4 KEN POTTER, Place Kicker
6-1, 207, Sr., Alta Loma, CA

UCLA — One of the nation's most effective kickoff specialists, he usually puts the ball into, if not over, the opponents' end zone . . . Because of kickers such as Ken, the NCAA passed a new rule moving the football to the 30 yard line if a kickoff clears the end zone on the fly . . . UCLA coach Terry Donahue has indicated he will not ask Potter to alter his style despite the new rule . . . The senior kicked off 59 times during the 1983 season and opponents were able to return only 10 for a total of 230 yards . . . Had only three of his final 34 kicks returned and was 12 for 12 in reaching the end zone in UCLA's final two regular-season games . . . Put three of four kicks into the end zone in the Rose Bowl before retiring late in the first half with a pulled hamstring muscle . . . Helped hold opponents to just 12 kickoff returns in 1983 (10 on Potter kickoffs), breaking the previous UCLA opponent low of 21 . . . In the last two years, he has kicked off 135 times and just 32 have been returned . . . Did not have a scoring opportunity last year even though he is the team's No. 2 place kicker . . . Was equally effective as a sophomore in 1982, reaching the end zone on 59 of 76 kickoffs . . . Had just 22 of the 76 attempts returned for 447 yards . . . Also scored 12 points, making six of seven PATs and two of six field goals . . . Scored nine points when he filled in at Wisconsin, making one of three field goals and six of seven extra points . . . Kicked a 48-yard field goal against Long Beach State, the longest in his career . . . Redshirted in 1981 after earning a spot on the team as a non-scholarship player in 1980 . . . Kicked one PAT against Colorado that year and made a total of five kickoffs against Colorado and Oregon State . . . HIGH SCHOOL — Lettered in football under coach Dick Larsen at Damien High in LaVerne, CA . . . Did not compile glittering statistics since team rarely attempted field goals . . . PERSONAL — Born in Pomona, CA . . . Hometown is Alta Loma . . . Member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity

6 DENNIS PRICE, Strong Safety
6-0½, 158, Fr., Long Beach, CA

UCLA — Should see considerable action this year as a top reserve in the secondary . . . A versatile performer who can play any of the four positions in the secondary, making him that much more valuable to the team . . . Made fine progress during his first spring practice, playing 10 days at safety and 10 days at cornerback, and projected himself into the picture with his efforts . . . Just needs game experience . . . Enters fall drills listed No. 2 at strong safety . . . Played well enough to start in spring practice . . . One of UCLA's fastest defensive backs . . . Has four years of eligibility remaining . . . HIGH SCHOOL — Lettered in football under coach James Barnett at Long Beach (CA) Poly High . . . Teamed with current Bruin Chuckie Miller to give the Jackrabbits an outstanding secondary for three seasons . . . 1984 UCLA FRESHMEN FOOTBALL RECRUITS

If recruiting rating services are any indication of a successful recruiting season, then the Bruins' 1984 crop is one of the best ever. Joe Terranova ranked UCLA fourth nationally, behind Illinois, Auburn and USC. He also gave six UCLA newcomers (RB Eric Ball, L Robert Cox, RB Gaston Green, DB Chance Johnson, LB Doug Kline and L Jim Wahler) four-star ratings, with 10 other Bruins getting three-star nods. That's 16 of UCLA's 22 new recruits getting Terranova accolades. Dick Lascola, of Scouting Evaluation Association, listed Green, C. Johnson and QB Brendan McCracken as three of his top four players from the Southern California area. Blue Chip

1983 GAMES

September 3: GEORGIA 19, UCLA 8
AT SANFORD STADIUM, ATHENS, GA

A capacity crowd and a national television audience watched, on a rainy night in Georgia, as the Bruins began the first leg of the toughest schedule in the nation. The Bulldogs prevailed, 19-8, but the game was decided in the waning seconds by Charlie Dean's 69-yard interception return.

With the Bulldogs leading, 12-8, and UCLA's Rick Neuheisel engineering the final drive, a pass intended for tight end Paul Bergmann near the left sideline was picked off by Dean, who sealed Georgia's 21st straight victory in Sanford Stadium.

The Bulldogs opened the scoring with a 26-yard field goal from Kevin Butler at 9:02 in the first period. The Bruins were stopped by the spirited Georgia defense, and a punt by UCLA's Kevin Buenafe was returned 28 yards. Three Georgia first downs moved the ball to UCLA's nine-yard line, but an incomplete pass forced the Bulldogs to kick a field goal on fourth-and-seven.

In the second period, the Dawgs tallied nine points as a result of UCLA turnovers (one field goal and a touchdown). Late in the first quarter a pass from Neuheisel to Kevin Nelson was picked off by the Dawgs at the Georgia 44. That interception led to Butler's second field goal, a 22-yard strike with 14:09 remaining before halftime.

Three UCLA first downs brought the Bruins to the Bulldog 30 before Danny Andrews fumbled. The Dawgs mounted another drive, the key play a 12-yard reception by Clarence Kay on third-and-eight. Georgia scored its touchdown on a one-yard keeper by quarterback Todd Williams. Williams' two-point run attempt was stopped short.

On their next possession, the Bruins fired their guns. Neuheisel completed five straight passes as UCLA moved the ball from its 20 to Georgia's 15 in 12 plays and 2:48. John Lee's 32-yard field goal made it 12-3.

A pitch to Keith Montgomery was fumbled and UCLA recovered on Georgia's 20 with 0:22 remaining in the half. A pass to Nelson netted eight yards, and, after an incompletion, Neuheisel's apparent 12-yard touchdown strike to Mike Sherrard was nullified because of a five-yard penalty. So, with no time remaining, Lee kicked his second field goal to make the score 12-6.

Georgia wisely gave UCLA an intentional safety from its 15 with 1:06 remaining in the game on a fourth-and-five situation. Karl Dorrell returned the ensuing punt 25 yards as the Bruins began their game-ending drive.

Neuheisel, the former walk-on quarterback, earned Chevrolet Player of the Game honors in his first ever start and threw for 208 yards while completing 19 of 25 attempts. Sherrard, another walk-on, led all receivers with six receptions for 72 yards.

September 17: UCLA 26, ARIZONA STATE 26 AT THE ROSE BOWL

For the Bruins and Rick Neuheisel, this game really began in the fourth quarter. After Luis Zendejas kicked his fourth field goal to give the Sun Devils a 26-10 advantage, UCLA ignited what would become its trademark for the 1983 season, the comeback.

The Bruins never led in this game, but kept the score close in the first half. A Todd Hons-to-Doug Allen pass accounted for ASU's first touchdown, and 3:59 later, UCLA was on the board with John Lee's 52-yard field goal. Four plays later, Doug West intercepted a pass at ASU's 29-yard line and UCLA had a chance to take the lead. Kevin Nelson and Frank Cephous brought the ball to the nine, but the Devils staged a classic goal line stand and regained possession on the one with 1:34 remaining in the quarter.

That possession led to Zendejas' first field goal, a 42-yarder in the second quarter. Lee missed a 42-yarder shortly afterward, but Neuheisel then directed the Bruins 61 yards in seven plays, hitting Mike Sherrard with a 12-yard TD pass.

An interception by Don Rogers halted ASU's next drive at UCLA's 29, but the blitzing Sun Devil defense, which sacked Neuheisel nine times for −62 yards on the afternoon, thwarted another drive and Kevin Buenafe's punt was returned 29 yards.

Hons, with 0:48 remaining in the half, directed ASU to field goal range and Zendejas did the rest with a 41-yard effort at the gun.

Zendejas connected on field goals of 51 and 36 yards in the third and fourth quarters and Mike Crawford slanted three yards for ASU's lone touchdown of the second half to make the score 26-10. The Bruins did not score in the third period and did not begin their game-tying offensives until 11:31 remained in the game.

Neuheisel, who symbolized UCLA's comeback season, directed a quick drive from his own 20-yard line that culminated 3:24 later with a seven-yard touchdown pass to Karl Dorrell. Nelson, who later staged his own comeback, ran two yards for the two-point conversion.

The Devils regained possession, but Joe Gasser's diving interception on second-and-nine gave the Bruins new life on their own 47. Eight plays later, UCLA's Mike Young broke a tackle in the middle of the field near the 10-yard line and raced to the end zone for 26-24. Nelson ran the conversion in again to tie the score.

Though ASU regained possession with 1:36 remaining, a fumble by Hons, nearly recovered by UCLA, dissuaded coach Darryl Rogers from risking a possible loss and the game ended at 26-26.

September 24: NEBRASKA 42, UCLA 10
AT MEMORIAL STADIUM, LINCOLN, NE

The opponents didn't get any easier for the Bruins as they arrived in Lincoln, NE, to play the No. 1-ranked Cornhuskers. The Huskers had rolled up some impressive numbers and results prior to their fourth game of 1983, and many football experts saw the Bruins as their toughest opponent to date.

For a half, it was the Bruins who were impressive, sneaking to a 10-0 advantage as a result of two NU fumbles. Frank Cephous, who rushed for 46 yards and caught four passes for 67 yards, capped a nine-play drive with a one-yard touchdown run in the first quarter.

Don Rogers, who along with Gene Mewborn, led UCLA with 17 tackles, recovered another Husker fumble at the UCLA 40 late in the first period. Eight plays later, Lee connected on a 37-yard field goal.

The Cornhuskers took the ensuing kickoff and marched 79 yards in 12 plays to narrow the margin to 10-7. They forced the Bruins to punt on UCLA's next possession and needed only three plays, including a 56-yard pass from Turner Gill to Irving Fryar, to go ahead 14-10 at halftime.

The awesome Nebraska offense exploded for 28 points in the second half. In fact, the Cornhuskers scored their 42 points in just 28 minutes. In the second half they rolled up 267 yards rushing enroute to outgaining UCLA, 600 to 292, in total offense.

Injuries took their toll on the Bruins. No less than six players suffered injuries from torn knee ligaments (Mark Walen) to a shattered finger (Mewborn). The Bruins returned home with an 0-2-1 record and another nationally-ranked opponent yet to play — Brigham Young.

October 1: BYU 37, UCLA 35
AT THE ROSE BOWL

The Cougars, known for their aerial prowess, unleashed an efficient ground attack which gained 265 yards and kept the Bruins off-balance all afternoon. Though the Bruins made a gallant comeback, one of the few during the season that fell short, the final score proved their closest margin in a game in which they never led.

Steve Bono, making his first ever start, looked rusty early as UCLA was forced to punt on three of its first four possessions. By the end of the first quarter, the Cougars led 14-0.

Bono sparked UCLA's first scoring drive after Lupe Sanchez intercepted a Steve Young pass. He completed three passes, the last one a 33-yard strike to Mike Sherrard for a 14-7 BYU advantage.

The Cougars countered with an eight-play, eighty-yard drive, and Waymon Hamilton capped it with a 19-yard TD run.

The Bruins then went 68 yards in 12 plays to make it 21-14, Bono scoring this one on a five-yard keeper around right end.

Again, the Cougars chewed up enough yardage to score. They advanced from their 20-yard line to UCLA's 30 in 1:20. With 0:08 remaining, Lee Johnson kicked one of three field goals, this one from 42 yards, and the Cougars left the field with a 10-point halftime lead.

After Frank Cephous narrowed BYU's margin to 24-21 with an eight-yard touchdown run, the Cougars scored 10 points as a result of two Bono fumbles. The Bruins retaliated quickly, striking with a Bono-to-Mike Young 58-yard bomb to close the gap, 31-28. But BYU padded its lead again as Johnson kicked a 23-yard field goal.

With 2:20 remaining, the Bruins regained possession and advanced from their own 31 to the Cougars' 36, where, on third-and-22, Bono hit Young in a classic "Hail Mary" play with 0:26 showing.

Time ran out on UCLA, and though it was now 0-3-1, Bono set a school passing record (399 yards) as he and S. Young combined for an aerial show that produced 669 yards passing, 50 completions in 70 attempts and five touchdown passes.

October 8: UCLA 39, STANFORD 21
AT STANFORD STADIUM, STANFORD, CA

This was the game of comebacks, the win that gave UCLA new life in the conference race and started the team on the trail back to its second straight Rose Bowl victory.

Bono started his second game, coach Terry Donahue having named him the starter for the remainder of the year. "Rick Neuheisel has played better than a lot of our other players," Donahue said. "It's nothing against his performance, but we haven't been able to win." However, a crunching tackle in the first quarter separated Bono's throwing shoulder and a rusty Neuheisel had to pinch hit once more.

At the time of Bono's injury, the Bruins trailed 7-3, but Neuheisel, with the help of some Cardinal errors, directed them to a 13-7 advantage by halftime. But the Cardinal staged a comeback of its own, getting a touchdown catch from Tom Henley and another TD on an interception return. The Bruins were behind again, but this time they wouldn't be at the end.

UCLA exploded for 26 points in the fourth period, its biggest single-quarter outburst of the season. Neuheisel engineered an 11-play, 76-yard drive with Danny Andrews scoring on a one-yard run. Though Kevin Nelson's conversion run failed, the Bruins got help from their defense 10 seconds later when Don Rogers intercepted and tip-toed 29 yards down the sideline for a touchdown.

The Cardinal's next drive stalled when UCLA's Mike Mahan recovered a fumble on the Bruins' 47. Fifteen plays later, John Lee nailed a 32-yarder and the Bruins led 29-21.

Rogers' second interception led to another Lee field goal, this one from 47 yards, and Lupe Sanchez intercepted UCLA's fifth pass of the day and returned it 31 yards for another Bruin TD.

The Bruins' defense directly accounted for 14 points and set the offense up for another 12 (four field goals on two interceptions and two fumble recoveries). UCLA's five interceptions on the day was its highest total of the year.

Donahue characterized the Stanford victory weeks later by saying, "That win turned the season around for us. We came back to win and the defense gave us a lift when we were down. The win made us 1-0-1 in the Pac-10 race and we never again mentioned our overall record."

October 15: UCLA 24, WASHINGTON STATE 14 AT MARTIN STADIUM, PULLMAN, WA

The last time the Washington State Cougars wore their crimson uniforms in Pullman, they defeated intra-state rival Washington and eliminated the Huskies' Rose Bowl chances. On this gray day they wore them again and, for awhile, it seemed they might jinx the Bruins, too.

The Cougars, with quarterback Ricky Turner fooling the Bruin defense on rollouts and options, marched 80 yards in 16 plays on their opening possession. Turner ran the ball in from the one on fourth-and-goal and WSU led by a touchdown with 6:37 gone in the first quarter.

Two UCLA fumbles, one by Kevin Nelson on the Bruins' first play from scrimmage, led to a pair of WSU first quarter field goal attempts. John Traut, who had connected on eight of 10 attempts entering the game, missed from 49 and 46 yards. He also missed from 44 yards in the second quarter, the ball bouncing to the ground after striking the crossbar.

The lucky Bruins, who were to become luckier, managed a 43-yard field goal by John Lee at 6:54 of the second period. The Cougars stormed back, advancing 60 yards before Turner fumbled a snap and the Bruins' Tommy Taylor recovered. On the previous play, a touchdown pass from Turner to Rueben Mayes was nullified because of an illegal motion penalty. The Bruins failed to capitalize, but escaped at halftime, down 7-3.

It was business as usual for the Bruins in the second half as they took the opening kickoff, got a touchdown on Danny Andrews' four-yard sweep and never looked back. That score capped a 69-yard, 10-play drive and UCLA scored two more touchdowns as a result of a fumble recovery and interception.

Turner led an 80-yard, 11-play drive that culminated with Don Stewart's six-yard touchdown run. The Cougs got the ball back twice more, but those drives stalled when they failed to convert on two fourth-down situations.

WSU dominated the game statistically, gaining 440 total yards in 87 plays to UCLA's 271 in 63 plays. The most important stat, however, was UCLA's ability to convert turnovers into 14 points and a victory. This, surprisingly, would not be the last favor the Cougars would do for the Bruins in 1983. Just over a month later, they would spoil Washington's trip to Pasadena for the second straight year.

October 22: UCLA 20, CALIFORNIA 16 AT THE ROSE BOWL

The Bruins added another chapter to their storybook season with a fourth-quarter victory over Joe Kapp and the never-say-die California Bears. For 57 minutes, Cal never trailed; in fact, it was on the verge of shutting out the Bruins, who had scored in 139 straight games prior to this one.

The Bears held a 6-0 halftime advantage as Randy Pratt connected on field goals of 25 and 54 yards in the first two quarters. The Bears' blitzing defense, led by All-American linebacker Ron Rivera, sacked Rick Neuheisel five times for −31 yards and forced two UCLA turnovers and three punts in the host's six first-half possessions.

A first period UCLA drive, which started on the Bruins' 20 yard line after the Bears' first field goal, stalled at Cal's 32-yard line when John Lee missed a 49-yard attempt.

After the Bruins' first drive of the second half stalled, the Bears' Mark Funderburk caught a 14-yard pass and on successive plays, ran for 14 and 11 yards. Quarterback Gale Gilbert then hit Dwight Garner for 23 yards, and, two plays later, the Bears went ahead 13-0 when Gilbert connected with Andre Lindsey for a touchdown.

Neuheisel directed the Bruins' first scoring drive on their next possession, completing six of eight passes, including one to Paul Bergmann for a 15-yard touchdown.

The Bears got a field goal of 29 yards from Pratt with 14:57 remaining and a victory seemed certain for Cal, when, on UCLA's next two possessions, Neuheisel fumbled center snaps and Cal recovered. Luckily, Pratt missed a 47-yard attempt, and, when the Bruins took over following the miss, Neuheisel didn't fumble it away. A pass interference call gave UCLA a key first down at the Bears' 47, and then Neuheisel hit Karl Dorrell for a 32-yard TD that made it 16-14.

Incited, the Bruin defense forced the Bears to punt after three plays. UCLA took over at its own 46, but was faced with a fourth-and-two situation moments later. The call, after a timeout, produced a 25-yard gain when Neuheisel hit Bergmann. Two plays later, Frank Cephous scored and a comeback victory belonged to UCLA.

It was UCLA's 12th straight victory over California and third straight in the Pac-10 in 1983.

October 29: UCLA 27, WASHINGTON 24 AT THE ROSE BOWL

A crowd of 60,094 watched one of the best passing shows of the season as records were set, streaks snapped and the lead changed six times in the second half. In four of the last seven meetings between the two schools, the loser had gone to the Rose Bowl.

The two teams traded field goals in the first two quarters, and the Bruins mounted a late second-period drive after a bad Husky punt. Rick Neuheisel and Kevin Nelson, who led all rushers with 145 yards, brought the Bruins to their own 15 with 0:04 showing. John Lee's 32-yard field goal proved the key score as the teams traded touchdowns all during the second half.

In the final 30 minutes, UCLA scored on drives of 80, 80 and 92 yards, while Washington marched 99 and 80 yards with one touchdown pass of 70 yards. The Huskies, ranked 11th nationally in rushing defense, yielded 244 yards rushing to UCLA, 84 to Nelson in the first half. The Bruins allowed just 115 yards on the ground, 49 in the second half.

In the air, the Bruins were awesome. Neuheisel set an NCAA record by completing 25 of 27 passes for 287 yards. He ended UCLA's final drive with 18 straight completions. Steve Pelleur of Washington entered the game with 118 straight completions without an interception, a school record, and raised that figure to 137 before Rogers picked off a pass to end the Huskies' hopes for victory.

Said Terry Donahue after the game, "If you could sum up our games with Washington in one word, it's physical. That's the way it was today and we were a little more physical than they were."

November 5: UCLA 24, OREGON 13 AT AUTZEN STADIUM

The Oregon Ducks, who had entertained Rose Bowl thoughts after upsetting California and Arizona in their first two conference games, proved dangerous despite a 3-5 record. It was an uncharacteristic victory for the Bruins, who led throughout and sealed the win with a late fourth-quarter field goal.

Kevin Nelson led all ground-gainers with 131 yards and scored all three UCLA touchdowns on runs of 4, 12 and 35 yards. His 100-yard plus performance was his third straight and he became the first UCLA tailback to accomplish that feat since Freeman McNeil in 1980.

The Bruins' first possession netted a 65-yard, eight-play scoring drive. On fourth-and-three from the nine, the Ducks' Steve Baack was called for roughing the kicker on John Lee's 27-yard field goal attempt. The ensuing penalty gave the Bruins a first down at the four from where Nelson scored on the next play.

UCLA's next scoring drive was a 68-yard, 12-play affair. Nelson gained seven yards on one third-down play, and tight end Paul Bergmann caught a third-down pass of 16 yards to continue the drive. On fourth-and-one after a UCLA timeout, the Ducks were called for encroachment and that yielded a UCLA first down at the 12. Nelson scored on the next play for a 14-0 halftime lead.

The Bruins took the third-quarter kickoff and scored on an 80-yard, nine-play drive that was maintained by another Oregon encroachment penalty. Nelson capped the drive with a fine 35-yard run around right end for a 21-0 advantage.

Two quick Oregon scores evaporated that lead, one a three-play scoring drive after a Bruin fumble, the other a 69-yard punt return by Lew Barnes. The Ducks missed the PAT on Barnes' score, but 9:18 still remained.

The Bruins began their final drive at their own 22. A Rick Neuheisel-to-Karl Dorrell pass was intercepted by the Ducks' Don Brown, who fumbled it back to the Bruins. From there, UCLA advanced to Oregon's 15 and Lee connected from 32 yards with 1:01 remaining.

November 12: ARIZONA 27, UCLA 24 AT ARIZONA STADIUM, TUCSON, AZ

Fate has a strange way of smiling on the Bruins' John Lee, especially against the University of Arizona. As a freshman, Lee was the hero with his 36-yard strike at 0:02 in UCLA's dramatic 24-24 tie with the Wildcats at the Rose Bowl.

This time, before a national television audience, the Bruins' fourth TV appearance of the season, the outcome of the game once again rested on Lee's right foot.

The excitement kept mounting in this one with five lead changes, four in the first half, and both teams battling for last-second heroics.

After a scoreless third quarter and Arizona leading 20-14, the Bruins began a fourth-quarter drive at midfield. The key play, a 24-yard run by Frank Cephous, gave UCLA a first-and-goal at the Arizona one. But a delay of game penalty pushed the ball back to UCLA's six and the Bruins failed to score in three plays. Lee's 22-yard field goal cut the Cats' lead to 20-17.

An interception by Neal Dellocono gave the Bruins a first down at the Arizona 21 with 9:03 remaining. With second-and-goal from the seven, Bergmann made a fingertip touchdown catch and UCLA led 24-20 with 6:55 showing.

The Bruins stopped the Wildcats' next drive but couldn't get a first down to retain possession. The ensuing punt gave the Wildcats possession at their 31, and quarterback Tom Tunnicliffe directed them downfield. The key play was a 32-yard pass to Brad Anderson for a first down at the UCLA three and the Wildcats eventually scored at 1:01 for a 27-24 lead.

Neuheisel took over and completed passes of 21 and 23 yards, and Danny Andrews, Cephous and Kevin Nelson ran the ball to the Bruins' 23. A tie would not hurt the Bruins as much as a loss — they would still control their own destiny in the Rose Bowl race. Lee's 36-yard attempt with 0:03 remaining sailed low and wide and the Bruins went home to meet USC with a 5-1-1 conference record and their Rose Bowl hopes dimmed.

November 19: UCLA 27, USC 17
AT THE LOS ANGELES COLISEUM

Three streaks were continued in this game. First, the Washington State Cougars upset Washington, 17-6, for the second straight year. Second, the Bruins defeated the Trojans for the second consecutive time, their third win over USC in the last four years. And third, UCLA clinched its second straight Rose Bowl berth.

For the Trojans, who were suffering through the worst season in 20 years, it was a pride-shattering loss. Ahead 10-6 at halftime, USC yielded 21 third-quarter points to the Bruins, who learned of the Huskies' defeat at the start of the second half.

"The Washington State score was a tremendous motivation to our team," said Terry Donahue. "We had been down all week after the (Arizona) loss. (That) score really motivated us at halftime and helped us blow open the third quarter."

Washington, with its 5-1 league record prior to its intrastate showdown, needed only to defeat the underdog Cougars to gain a Rose Bowl bid. But the Cougs, who had strung together four straight victories since losing to UCLA, outclassed their rivals in a driving Seattle rainstorm by yielding just two field goals.

The Bruins' third-quarter explosion was the result of an 80-yard, 11-play opening drive, a 39-yard punt return by Lupe Sanchez and a fumble recovery by Jeff Chaffin at USC's 26.

In their second half-opening drive, the Bruins marched downfield with relative ease, earning six first downs, while facing just one third-down situation. That play, a third-and-three at the SC seven, was a seven-yard TD pass from Rick Neuheisel to Karl Dorrell.

The Bruins then forced the Trojans to punt, and Sanchez darted from one 20-yard line to the other before the ball was marked at SC's 21. Kevin Nelson powered through from the 12 three plays later and the Bruins led by 10.

The back-breaker for USC came following the fumble recovery. The Trojan defense stopped Nelson and Neuheisel on successive plays before Neuheisel hit Paul Bergmann with a key 24-yard first-down pass. Again, Nelson and Neuheisel were stopped, but, on third-and-goal from the 17, Bryan Wiley barrelled into the end zone to seal another UCLA victory.

January 2: UCLA 45, ILLINOIS 9
AT THE ROSE BOWL

Unlike the previous year, the Bruins were not considered favorites or even-money bets against a powerful University of Illinois team. The Illini rolled into Pasadena with an impressive 10-1 record and were the first Big Ten team in history to defeat all nine conference opponents. They averaged over 30 points per game, including 51.6 points in their last three, and word had it that Illinois was nearly impossible to beat after gaining a lead.

But the Bruins had something to prove. Don Rogers' interception 43 seconds into the game gave UCLA possession at the Illinois 32. After getting three first downs on their first four plays, the Bruins' drive stalled. John Lee's 43-yard field goal attempt was blocked, but the ensuing recovery was fumbled by Illinois and UCLA's Steve Gemza fell on it at the 14. From there, the Bruins scored, Rick Neuheisel hitting Paul Bergmann on a 10-yard strike.

That 7-0 score stood until the Illini got a field goal at 13:59 in the second period. In the next eight minutes, the Bruins tallied 21 points to virtually squelch any hopes of an Illini comeback. Kevin Nelson capped an 80-yard, seven-play drive with a 28-yard TD run at 10:59, Neuheisel found Karl Dorrell over the middle with an 11-yard TD pass after another Rogers' interception, and Mike Young's 58-yard touchdown reception made it 28-3 at intermission.

The bright orange-clad Illini fans cheered wildly as their team re-entered for the second half, and when UCLA's opening possession ended after three plays, it appeared UI's 12th man might play a part in a comeback.

But Illinois' drive stalled when Doug West sacked quarterback Jack Trudeau for a 14-yard loss on third-and-four. After that, the Bruins went 56 yards on 10 plays for their fifth touchdown and then added a field goal at 2:08 in the third period to lock up the game.

The Illini got a harmless touchdown at 13:55 in the final period, but missed the two-point conversion attempt. The Bruins added one more touchdown to make the final score 45-9, in what many people feel may have been the greatest victory in UCLA history.

THE LAST TIME . . .

Scoring on a kickoff return, punt return, interception return or safety is rare in college football, as is a shutout. Here is a list of the last time UCLA:

Scored on kickoff return: Jojo Townsell vs California, 1980 (100 yards)

Was scored upon by kickoff return: Joe Steele of Washington, 1976 (89 yards)

Scored on punt return: Brian Smith vs Wisconsin, 1979 (six yards with blocked punt); Ray Armstrong vs Syracuse, 1966 (62 yards with kick return)

Was scored upon by punt return: Lew Barnes of Oregon, 1983 (69 yards)

Scored on an interception: Lupe Sanchez vs Stanford, 1983 (31 yards)

Was scored upon by interception: Mike Noble of Stanford, 1983 (30 yards)

Scored a safety: vs Georgia, 1983

Was scored upon by safety: by Arizona, 1980

Shut out an opponent: vs Washington, 1981

Was shut out by opponent: by Michigan, 1971

ALL-AMERICAN BRUINS

Here is UCLA's list of 38 first-team All-Americans, headed by three-time consensus choices Jerry Robinson and Kenny Easley. Robinson (1976-77-78), an inside linebacker, and Easley (1978-79-80), a free safety, are the only three-time consensus All-Americans in Pacific-10 Conference history.

The list also includes 1967 Heisman Trophy winner Gary Beban and two-time All-Americans Donn Moomaw and Bob Davenport.

BRUIN YOUNGSTER

Freshman defensive back Darryl Henley is the youngest player on the 1984 UCLA football roster. Henley, from Ontario, will not be 18 until Oct. 30, just over a month after freshman running back Ken Norton, Jr. (Sept. 29) celebrates his 18th birthday.

UCLA OLDTIMER

Senior cornerback Herb Welch is the oldest player on the 1984 UCLA football roster. Welch, who attended Cerritos College for two years prior to transferring to UCLA, celebrated his 23rd birthday on January 12. Quarterback Jim Kordakis (June 24) is also 23 and four other Bruins — defensive tackle David Randle (Sept. 22), inside linebackers Dave and Doug Rozsa (Nov. 15) and outside linebacker Ron Butler (Dec. 21) will celebrate their 23rd birthdays prior to the end of the year.

UCLA'S SINGLE-SEASON 'TOP 10' IN TEN INDIVIDUAL CATEGORIES

Here are UCLA's single-season "Top 10" leaders in ten individual categories, including ball-carrying, passing, total offense, pass receiving, punting, scoring, punt returning, kickoff returning, rushing attempts and pass intercepting.

These records are from 1942 through 1983, although a few categories, as noted, go back a few more years. An 'early' (before the time span listed) accomplishment is listed at the end of the specific category. (1984 players in bold face.)

RETIRED NUMBERS

In all of its football history, UCLA has seen fit to retire the uniform numbers of only seven of its greatest players. The latest is free safety Kenny Easley, who wore No. 5 while earning consensus All-America honors three times.

The complete list includes: No. 5, Kenny Easley, safety, 1977-80; No. 13, Kenny Washington, halfback, 1937-39; No. 16, Gary Beban, quarterback, 1965-67; No. 34, Paul Cameron, tailback, 1951-53; No. 38, Burr Baldwin, offensive end, 1941-42 and 1946; No. 80, Donn Moomaw, linebacker, 1950-52; and No. 84, Jerry Robinson, linebacker, 1975-78.

Washington earned fame as UCLA's first All-American player while Beban is the only Bruin every to win the coveted Heisman Trophy. Robinson and Easley are the only three-time All-Americans in UCLA history while Moomaw earned A-A honors twice and Cameron and Baldwin once each.

DR. CHARLES E. YOUNG

(UC Riverside '55)
UCLA Chancellor

Dr. Charles E. Young's leadership as the Chancellor of UCLA is in its 17th year, having begun with his appointment as Chancellor on Sept. 1, 1968. Combined with his previous (1960-1968) administrative positions at UCLA, Chancellor Young's influence has guided the Los Angeles campus of the nine-campus University of California system for approximately a quarter of a century.

Considered one of higher education's senior administrators even though only 52 years old, Dr. Young has continued to direct the rapid growth of UCLA as one of the nation's most comprehensive and dynamic university campuses.

With responsibility for an annual expenditure exceeding $750 million, Chancellor Young is chief executive officer of a complex operation which economically corresponds to one of the 50 largest corporations in California.

During his tenure, support for the University has grown extensively from all areas, but especially from the private sector. In recent years, UCLA has become one of the top recipients of private funds among all universities — public or independent.

Charles Young was born in San Bernardino, California, December 30, 1931, where he attended high school. He and his wife, the former Sue Daugherty, have two children, Charles Jr., 28, and Elizabeth Susan, 23, and four grandchildren.

After military service in the Korean War, he enrolled at the newly established campus of the University of California, Riverside, graduating with honors in 1955. While there, he was elected the campus' first student body president.

He then enrolled at UCLA where he studied for his master of arts degree (1957) and doctor of philosophy degree (1960) in political science. In 1958, he went to Washington, D.C., on a Congressional Fellowship and worked with Congressman Lee Metcalf and Senator James Murray, both of Montana.

In 1959, UC President Clark Kerr lured Dr. Young back to California with an offer to join his staff. For about a year, he served as staff assistant to the academic team drawing up the Master Plan for Higher Education in California, worked on the University Growth Plan, and studied University decentralization. He also taught political science at UC Davis.

Dr. Young was named assistant to the Chancellor and assistant professor of political science at UCLA in the fall of 1960 by Dr. Franklin D. Murphy, who had just assumed the UCLA Chancellorship. In 1962, Dr. Young became assistant chancellor and in 1963, was named vice chancellor for administration. Following Chancellor Murphy's resignation in 1968, Dr. Young was named by the UC Regents as Chancellor at the age of 36, the youngest Chancellor ever appointed by The Regents. Dr. Young continues to hold an academic appointment as professor of political science at UCLA with his writing and teaching in the area of American political theory and politics.

CHANCELLOR YOUNG

Throughout his tenure at UCLA, Chancellor Young has been active in academic, business and civic organizations. In October, 1983, he was named by his peers to be chairman of the Association of American Universities, an organization comprised of 52 of the most prestigious research universities in North America.

He is a member of the Administrative Board, International Association of Universities; the Board of Governors, Foundation for the International Exchange of Scientific and Cultural Information by Telecommunications; the Los Angeles World Affairs Council; the Southern California Theatre Association; the National Committee on United States-China Relations, Inc.; the Mansfield Center for Pacific Affairs; the Los Angeles Olympic Organizing Committee; The Los Angeles International Visitors Council; the Greater Los Angeles Energy Coalition; and Board of Trustees, UCLA Foundation.

He also serves on the board of directors of UMF Systems, Inc., Intel Corp., Carlsberg Corporation, Financial Corporation of America, Micro-Z Corp., and American Savings and Loan Association.

HISTORY OF UCLA

UCLA occupies an unusual position among the world's major universities; it is one of a handful known both for top academic leadership and championship athletics.

A recent national survey by the Conference Board of Research Councils ranked UCLA among the very best in the U.S.

Two historic decisions played a critical part in UCLA's growth to its present distinction. The first was the vote of the state legislature in 1919 to allow the Los Angeles State Normal School to become part of the University of California; the second was the decision to move UCLA's campus in 1929 from a small plot on Vermont Avenue to the new home in Westwood Village.

Affiliation with the University of California gave the fledgling university the academic prestige it needed to attract outstanding faculty and students; the move to Westwood gave it a handsome setting and room for expansion into a major institution. The fact that the campus lay in the path of growth of the nation's most vigorous metropolis undoubtedly made an important contribution.

UCLA's various professional schools, though relatively young, have also reached national prominence. One 1977 survey found the UCLA Law School in 10th position, Graduate Education in 4th, and Management in 8th; another, in 1979, listed UCLA Medicine in 5th place in the U.S.

UCLA's faculty rolls, which have listed Nobelists and numerous members of the National Academy of Sciences, contain many nationally-known authorities. UCLA faculty are sixth in terms of the number of Guggenheim award recipients and are strongly represented among winners of Fulbright and Sloan fellowships.

In support of faculty and student research, UCLA has developed many unusual educational facilities, including a library of more than 5 million volumes recently ranked third in the nation by the Association of Research Libraries.

In science, the university has such special facilities as a linear accelerator, a laboratory for research into nuclear fusion which may some day provide unlimited sources of energy, a carbondating laboratory which determines the age of ancient objects, and a tissue-typing laboratory which matches donors and recipients of organ transplants all over the world.

No less impressive are the facilities in the arts, which include the extensive ethnic art collection of the Museum of Cultural History and the more than 400 exotic musical instruments of the department of music. Still other unusual collections embrace the more than 60 major examples of contemporary sculpture in the Franklin D. Murphy Sculpture Garden and the more than 25,000 prints in the Grunwald Center for the Graphic Arts.

It is perhaps not surprising that UCLA's strong faculty and excellent facilities have attracted a large volume of research grants, not only from private sources but from the government.

It is also not surprising that with such a wealth of educational opportunity, UCLA's students should have played a prominent role in supplying California's needs for a sophisticated workforce, thus providing an increasingly influential group of UCLA alumni in the state and nation.

PETER T. DALIS

(UCLA '59)
Director of Athletics

If Pete Dalis' first year as UCLA's director of athletics is any indication, the Bruin athletic department should continue to rank as the nation's most successful in the near future.

During the 1983-84 school year, UCLA captured three NCAA men's team championships, more than any other school, bringing home the gold in gymnastics, tennis and volleyball. In women's sports, UCLA added another gold, winning the NCAA softball crown. In addition, the Bruin football squad won a second consecutive Rose Bowl championship for the first time in school history.

Other notable occurances during Dalis' first year included the completion of the J.D. Morgan Intercollegiate Athletics Center, including UCLA's new athletic Hall of Fame, and the completion of the Los Angeles Tennis Center, which was the tennis competition site during the 1984 Olympic Games.

Dalis, 46, was handpicked by Chancellor Charles E. Young to succeed Robert A. Fischer on June 9, 1983, and assumed the duties of the job on September 1. At that time, Young stated that "many facets of intercollegiate athletics are changing quickly as we progress into the 1980s and I believe that Peter is best suited to lead the Bruin athletic program through those changes."

The Bruin director has been associated with UCLA, either as a student or an employee, since the fall of 1955. Prior to becoming director, he served as director of UCLA's impressive Cultural and Recreational Affairs department. In that capacity, Dalis was responsible for the management of a 50,000 person recreation/sports program which included intramural sports, club sports, activity instruction, recreation clubs and cultural programs. In addition, he was also in charge of management of UCLA's athletic facilities, including the athletic fields, men's and women's gymnasiums, swimming pools, golf areas, tennis courts, Pauley Pavilion, Drake Stadium, the Sunset Canyon Recreation Center and the recently-completed John R. Wooden Sports and Recreation Center.

The Wooden Center represents many hours of hard work by Dalis, who was a central figure in the project from its inception in 1975. He prepared the original feasibility study and enjoyed "hands-on" responsibility of the project through the design and construction stages, culminating with the building's opening in May of 1983.

While he had not been a member of the athletic department during his UCLA career, Dalis had been deeply involved in many department-related projects. He served as the chair for the Improvement of Sports Facilities Committee, which included the Wooden Center, Morgan Center, MAC-D and L.A. Tennis Center projects. In addition, he was a member of the campus Title IX Committee regarding sports and is a member of the University Athletic and Recreational Policies Committee.

In its early years, the women's athletic department was under Dalis' auspices as part of the CRA department. It was Dalis who, in 1974, recommended that the department be given the opportunity to establish its own identity and was a member of the search committee that selected Dr. Judith Holland to lead the department. In addition, he served on the 1980 athletic director search committee that selected Fischer as successor to the late J.D. Morgan.

Dalis, who played a major role in the planning and construction of the Sunset Canyon Recreation Center, has been utilized as a capital project consultant by several other schools, including the University of Connecticut and Australia's University of New South Wales. He also played a major role in the planning of UCLA's participation in the 1984 Olympic Games and was selected to the LAOOC Citizens Advisory Commission.

The son of immigrant Greek parents, Dalis was born and raised in Los Angeles. He attended Manual Arts High School, playing on the football team, and graduated among the top 10 percent of his class in 1955.

As an undergraduate at UCLA, he served as football manager for four years and worked for three coaches (Red Sanders, George Dickerson and Bill Barnes) in his senior season. Dalis earned a B.S. degree in 1959, majoring in Physical Education with concentration on administration. Bypassing a chance to work in the athletic department at that time, he instead went to graduate school and, in January of 1963, earned an M.S. in Physical Education.

That same year, Dalis became director of UCLA's intramural sports program and two years later was promoted to associate dean of the Cultural and Recreational Affairs office. In 1970, he became the director of the office, a position he held until being named athletic director.

Dalis, born on December 8, 1937, is single and resides in Culver City.

DR. DOUGLAS S. HOBBS

(Harvard '55)
Faculty Athletic Representative

During his eight years as UCLA's faculty athletic representative, Prof. Douglas S. Hobbs has handled a number of major assignments with success. In 1980-81 he served as chairman of the Pacific-10 Conference Compliance Committee and was a member of UCLA's Athletic Director Search Committee the previous year.

In 1978-79 he served on the NCAA Division I Steering Committee, which initiates policy recommendations for action by the association's annual convention, and in 1977-78 Hobbs was president of the Pacific-8 Council. This year he will be serving on the NCAA Academic Testing and Requirements Committee.

Working with faculty representatives of the other member schools, he helps to shape matters of athletic policy and to approve legislative action of the Pacific-10 Conference as well as to help determine the eligibility of student athletes.

His duties also include membership on the UCLA Athletic and Recreational Policies Commission, and he also serves as the faculty athletic representative for UCLA's outstanding women's intercollegiate program.

An associate professor of political science with a specialty in American Constitutional Law, Dr. Hobbs enjoys his work in athletics and is a longtime spectator at UCLA athletic events. He says, "Since joining the UCLA faculty in 1964, I've missed only one home football game." On that occasion, Gary Beban broke his leg during the struggle with Stanford, and Dr. Hobbs is resolved not to court such disasters by his absence. He also rarely misses a basketball game in Pauley Pavilion.

He competed in track and basketball at Great Neck, N.Y., High School and also, as he puts it, "Played without distinction on Harvard's freshman basketball team."

A native of Rochester, N.Y., Dr. Hobbs was educated at Harvard University, receiving his A.B., magna cum laude, in 1955 and his Ph.D. in 1966. He was a Robert Treat Paine Fellow there in 1958-59, a Graduate Fellow in 1959-60 and a Teaching Fellow in Government in 1959-62 and 1963-64. He has taught at UCLA since 1964.

He has won four teaching honors at UCLA, the 1968, 1975 and 1983 Pi-Sigma Alpha Awards for Distinguished Teaching in Political Science, and the UCLA Alumni Association's Distinguished Teaching Award in 1969.

Professor Hobbs served on active duty as an officer in the U.S. Navy from 1955-58 and in 1962-63. He served as a Navigator on board a destroyer and later as Communications Officer and staff secretary on the staff of Destroyer Squadron Eight. He left the Naval Reserve as a Lieutenant Commander in 1965.

Dr. Hobbs is married to the former Jane Field, and they live in Brentwood.

UCLA ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

The latest addition to UCLA's athletic and recreational facilities is the UCLA Athletic Hall of Fame, housed in the J.D. Morgan Intercollegiate Athletics Center. The Hall, dedicated on June 10, is now open to the public.

Within the two-story Hall of Fame are trophies, pictures and newspaper articles commemorating UCLA's six-plus decades of athletic excellence. Each of UCLA's intercollegiate sports has a board display highlighting its successes on the playing field.

UCLA athletic teams have won 50 NCAA team championships and each of those first-place trophies are on display, along with pictures of the championship teams. Other exhibits include photographs of each of UCLA's first-team All-Americans in football and basketball, Gary Beban's Heisman Trophy, Marques Johnson's Wooden Award, Peter Vidmar's Nissen Award and special display boards on UCLA's Rose Bowl victories and NCAA basketball tradition.

In addition, outstanding photographs of each of UCLA's athletic facilities, including the Rose Bowl, Pauley Pavilion, Drake Stadium and Jackie Robinson Stadium, adorn one wall while another is filled with reproductions of Sports Illustrated covers.

In connection with the new building, UCLA has established a Hall of Fame with 25 charter members representing a cross-section of the school's athletic history. Each year, a minimum of one and a maximum of six former UCLA athletes, coaches or administrators will be added to the Hall of Fame. Following is a list of the 25 charter members:

Bill Ackerman, athletic director; Lew Alcindor (Kareem Abdul-Jabbar), basketball; Arthur Ashe, tennis; Gary Beban, football; Mike Burton, swimming; Paul Cameron, football; Chris Chambliss, baseball; Elvin 'Ducky' Drake, track coach and trainer; Gail Goodrich, basketball; Walt Hazzard (Mahdi Abdul-Rahman), basketball; Cecil Hollingsworth, football scout and gymnastics and wrestling coach; Rafer Johnson, track; Kirk Kilgour, volleyball; Billy Kilmer, football; Donn Moomaw, football; J.D. Morgan, athletic director and tennis coach; Jackie Robinson, football, baseball, basketball and track; Henry 'Red' Sanders, football coach; Al Sparlis, football; Bill Spaulding, football coach; Bill Walton, basketball; Kenny Washington, football; Bob Waterfield, football; Keith (Jamaal) Wilkes, basketball; and John Wooden, basketball coach.

The UCLA Athletic Hall of Fame was made possible by private donations, including a lead donation from Gloria and Paul Griffin.

THE BEAUTIFUL HOME OF UCLA's FOOTBALL BRUINS

The Rose Bowl is one of the finest football stadiums in America. It was built specifically for football, but was used for portions of the 1932 Olympic Games and was also the soccer site for the 1984 Olympics. Completed in 1922, the stadium was first used for the USC-California game that year. The stadium was horseshoe shaped and seated 57,000 persons when it hosted the 1923 Rose Bowl Game.

The south end was enclosed prior to the 1929 game and enlarged to seat 76,000 spectators. Demands for more and more seats led to further enlargements; to 83,677 in 1932 and to 100,807 in 1949.

All new grandstand and loge seats have been installed since 1971, and new red backs were added on 22,000 seats prior to the 1980 Rose Bowl Game. Current seating capacity is 104,091, though a record 106,869 witnessed the 1973 USC-Ohio State Rose Bowl contest.

A new press box, located on the west rim of the Rose Bowl, was completed prior to the 1962 Rose Bowl Game at a cost of $356,000. It includes an elevator and two enclosed levels for the convenience of the nation's sportswriters and sportscasters.

In conjunction with UCLA's move and the Olympics, a Rose Bowl improvement program, which included refurbishing the press box and adding permanent concession stands, has resulted in backs for more than 50,000 seats.

The Rose Bowl has many firsts to its record. On Jan. 1, 1927, radio stations across the nation were linked together for the first time in a coast-to-coast broadcast. On Jan. 1, 1954, the UCLA-Michigan State Rose Bowl Game was the first west-to-east color telecast on a nation-wide hookup.

The Rose Bowl has 77 rows of seats. It measures 880 feet from the north to south rims and 695 from east to west. Its circumference around the rim is 2,430 feet, compared to 1,350 feet at field level. It took 28 miles of lumber to provide the original seats. There is 79,156 square feet of natural grass on the floor of the stadium.
